GERALD HAUPTMANN, distinguished German author, now in New York, says humanity is suffering from a severe attack of repentance, based on the knowledge that it has fallen prey to universal error. But, "civilization is not falling apart. Mankind will know how to solve its ethical, economical difficulties."

Herr Hauptmann, a fine intellect, whom this nation should honor, refers to America as "the land of Edison."

That should encourage us. There are other Edisons ready for work, and the one we know, lying peacefully in his simple grave, added billions to the payroll, and tens of billions to the value of the world.

UNLESS SENATORS that are good friends of stock gamblers prevent it, interesting facts will come out about "short sales" and those that injure values and prosperity by conspiring against them.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, and others who believe that the people have a right to know what is going on, even in Wall street, proposes to summon a few notorious bears, and find who has been selling short, and why.

The insiders of Wall street, expect amusing revelations, if nothing is done to protect short sellers from cross-questioning. It is expected that some that have been talking optimistically, advising purchase of securities, have been selling those very securities short. Also, it is predicted that some high minded persons have even been short of the securities of their own corporations.

A number of important Wall street personalities, including one or two that have been conspicuous as "unselfish patriots," are said to be much worried. That being the case, a way probably will be found to squelch the investigation, or to pull its teeth.

AN IMPORTANT announcement comes from Henry Ford about his plans. He will start things moving if it can be done, by throwing into purchases of raw materials and employment of labor, all that he has.

He has not piled up any great reserve, but is ready to put $300,000,000 of his own funds into the task that confronts him.

He will employ, as a start, 100,000 men in Detroit, not one paid less than $5 a day. That means a minimum Detroit payroll of $150,000,000 a year. Workers and stores will be glad to hear of that.

In addition to paying his own men, Ford will buy parts and materials from 5,000 different employers throughout the country, thus giving work to 300,000 other workers.

His expenditures for his own labor, and labor paid for by his purchases of raw and manufactured materials will total $50,000,000 a month, $600,000,000 a year.

Mr. Ford expects to make 5,000 cars a day, 1,500,000 a year, of four and eight-cylinder engines. He has orders for 84,000 cars now, before models are shown or prices announced.

When you consider that a few years ago, Henry Ford was hoping that some day he would do something, you realize that opportunities still exist in America. And, when you realize that, at the same time,

CONGRESS IS ASKED TO DRY UP CAPITAL

President Would Make Washington Model In Enforcement.

PREVENT WASTE

Voices Plea for Law Respect Before Congress.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Plugging of loopholes in the federal bankruptcy and criminal laws—coupled with a strengthened enforcement of prohibition in the capital—was advocated to congress today by President Hoover in a special message.

Speaking of the dry law for the first time since the submission of the Wickersham report, the President urged speedy action on his previous recommendation that the District of Columbia be made a model enforcement city for the nation.

Also, in ending his communication, the President said that as important as his recommendations were—"we must all keep before us that effective administration of the law in a republic requires not only adequate and proper machinery, honest and capable officials, but above all a citizenry imbued with a spirit of respect for law.

Recommends More Judges.

His recommendations included:

Creation of additional judgeships to relieve congestion.

Authorization for the supreme court to prescribe rules to expedite action on appeals.

Permitting the accused to waive the requirement of grand jury indictment.

Provisions that if 12 eligible grand jurors vote for indictment, it cannot be invalidated by the presence of ineligibles on the grand jury.

Limitation of time for making motions to quash indictments because of disqualification of grand jurors.

Enabling the federal government to turn accused children over to state authorities to be dealt with by juvenile courts.

Providing that where a corporation organized under the laws of one state, carries on business in another state, it shall be treated as a citizen of the state where it does business as respect suits within that state between it and residents there and arising out of business done in the state.

Hits Bankruptcy Laws.

The president strongly criticized flaws in the present bankruptcy laws. He pointed out that losses to creditors soared in 1931 to a total of $911,000,000. The present law, he said, "holds out every inducement for waste of assets long after business failure has become inevitable," and, in addition permits wasteful exploitation.

As he expressed it, the aims of revised bankruptcy legislation should be to relieve honest but unfortunate debtors of an overwhelming burden of debt; "to effect a prompt and economical liquidation of insolvent estates; and to discourage fraud and needless waste of assets by withholding relief from debtors in proper cases."

Under his proposals for stricter prohibition enforcement in this city, which were published last year and now are embodied in pending legislation, the police would be clothed with the authority of federal prohibition agents. He devoted but a single paragraph to the subject today.

President Hoover transmitted to congress along with his message a report of bankruptcy made by the department of justice following a lengthy investigation.

CALCUTTA VOTE HEARING NEARS END AT LISBON

Albert Foulks, Charles Fraser Seek New Trials.

MANY TESTIFY

J. O. McCord Tells of Swearing Signers To Affidavit.

The rehearing for a new trial for Albert Foulks and Charles Fraser, Republican judges in the Calcutta precinct, who were convicted January 29, of wrongfully counting the ballots cast in an eight-man race for three St. Clair township places, was expected to end early this afternoon in the Columbiana county common pleas court.

J. O. McCord, justice of the peace in Madison township, was the first witness today. He testified that he accompanied Edward Foulks to secure the affidavits of people who voted for him (Foulks) in the election. He said that he asked each if they would swear to voting for Foulks in the election.

Signs Wife's Name.

McCord said that Mrs. J. H. Jackson was signed by her husband to the affidavit. When the court asked him where J. H. Springer and G. W. Hutchinson, two other signers lived, he replied that "he did not know."

McCord testified that he was four or five days getting the signatures.

F. L. Conkle and Lester Hickman, election board clerks, testified. When the latter was asked if he voted for Foulks, he replied that he was "not saying."

Oliver Givens, O. C. Hatcher and Charles P. Orr, all residents of Calcutta precinct, said they were not sworn when they signed the affidavits.

Never Saw McCord.

Thomas Parker testified that he voted for Foulks and that McCord came to him last Friday, although the affidavit shows that he signed it on February 18. Parker said he never saw McCord before last Friday.

When Orr said that he was not sworn when he signed the affidavit, he added that McCord had told him that he would "take care of that."

The state had two more witnesses to call.

Others subpoenaed by the state were: John M. Neill, superintendent of county home; Alice Woolam, Frank L. Fisher, Teddy Givens, Margaret Moore, Virgil Porter, Mrs. J. H. Collins, George Dixon, M. W. Davis, J. A. Collins, H. Collins, H. W. Foulks, L. H. Foulks and S. J. Yoder, all of Calcutta precinct; John Foley, East Liverpool; G. W. Hutchinson and Joseph G. Springer, Cannons Mill.

WILLIAM SMITH HOME DAMAGED

Fire of Undetermined Origin Causes Loss Estimated at $2,000 in Wellsville Today.

The home of William Smith of Highland avenue, Wellsville was damaged to the extent of $2,000 today at 3:40 a. m., by fire of undetermined origin which started in the dining room.

The flames were fought by neighbors with garden hose until the arrival of the Wellsville fire department after which the blaze was speedily extinguished.

The loss was confined mostly to household furnishings.

22 Bodies Are Recovered From Mine Blast; Search For 16 More

Rescue Crews Push Through Splintered Timbers and Slate at Pocahontas, Va.

By The Associated Press.

POCAHONTAS, W. Va., Feb. 29.—With 22 bodies recovered, searchers delved into the heart of the Boissevain coal mine today for 16 other men believed killed in an explosion early Saturday.

Working in relays, rescue crews pushed through splintered timbers and slate to recover the first burned and mutilated bodies last night. Eight were immediately brought to the surface to the improvised morgue where 37 coffins awaited.

All except seven of those caught in the blast were married.

Cold and the treacherous mass of debris hindered speed in pushing through the underground passages but hope was held for recovery of all bodies today. Only when exhausted did the searchers come to the surface there to be fed by the silent women who refused to leave until the dead had all been found.

Worn by their long vigil, most of the bereaved, widows and children returned to their homes at midnight but were back at the mine shaft at daybreak.

The scene of the explosion was two miles beneath the surface and word of progress came slowly.

No decision as to the cause of the blast was reached although the general belief was that a powder explosion might have occurred. The mine is non-gaseous. 50 men were at work at the time, but a dozen escaped.

SWINDLER GETS $9 FROM PASTOR

Rev. Frederic A. Dean Victimized by Stranger Giving Name of Elmer Grove Sunday Morning.

Police in East Liverpool and other district river towns are on the look-out today for a young man, about 25, giving the name of Elmer Grove, who swindled Rev. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church in Virginia avenue, East End out of $9 Sunday.

Grove, who said he lived in First avenue, East End, appeared at the Dean home Sunday at 10:30 a. m., and appealed for funds to get to Washington, Pa., where he said his daughter had been killed in an automobile accident while visiting relatives. He produced a girl's picture and obtained the money after requesting Rev. Dean to take charge of funeral services.

He disappeared, and later it was reported to police he hurriedly left the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church when members became suspicious while the pastor was raising money for him.

Chief of Police Floyd H. Lyons of Chester said a man answering the description and giving the name of Elmer Grove attempted to obtain money there also.

Fate Unkind to Hassell Family

Fate was unkind to the family of Joseph Hassell of Third street, Chester, Saturday.

Hassell, 37, suffered a possible fractured jaw and lacerations to his face when his automobile collided with another machine in Negley avenue, Pittsburgh, Saturday night at 8.

His son, Edward, 16 suffered a concussion of the brain and severe lacerations to his right arm when struck by an auto driven by Paul McCoy of Indiana avenue, Chester, about three hours later as he was crossing Carolina avenue.

The youth was taken to the City hospital where he was attended by Dr. C. R. Campbell. His father who was attended in St. Francis hospital, in Pittsburgh, returned home Sunday.

STRATTON HIT BY $9,000 FIRE

Paris Inn and Grocery Destroyed By Blaze Sunday; Eight Dwellings in Danger.

Fire, caused by an overheated furnace, destroyed the Paris Inn and grocery in Stratton Sunday at 8:30 a. m., at a loss of approximately $9,000. The Wellsville, Toronto and Steubenville fire departments all responded to calls, but the flames were out of control when they arrived.

The Inn is operated by George Paris of Stratton and owned by C. R. Mitchell of Toronto. It is a two-story frame structure.

Traffic on state highway No. 7 was blocked while firemen pumped water from the river to the scene of the blaze.

Eight other dwellings, near the Inn, were slightly damaged by the fire. Damage to these homes was estimated at $500.

Peace Parleys Hold Hope As Big Guns Shake Chapei Area

Consul General Karamatsu Murai Officially Notifies Mayor Tokyo is Prepared to Begin Attack on Major Scale Unless Chinese Halt Military Plans.

DEFENDERS INTERPRET LETTER AS ULTIMATUM IN "REIGN OF TERROR"

Nipponese Warn They Will be Forced to Destroy Shanghai-Nanking Railway as Far West as Soochow and Shanghai-Hangchow Line as Far as Kashing.

BULLETIN:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—Orders have been issued by the navy department which will place virtually the entire United States navy in the Pacific ocean.

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS,
Associated Press Staff Correspondent.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 29.—Japanese Consul General Karamatsu Murai officially notified Mayor Wu Teh-Chen of Shanghai today that unless the Chinese cease bringing in military reinforcements, the Japanese army is prepared to begin an attack on Shanghai and the Chinese hinterland to the westward 'on a scale not even approached by the hostilities thus far.

Chinese officials said they regarded Consul General Murai's letter in the nature of an ultimatum, and that the action would "result in a reign of terror.

The Japanese consul general said that "in self-defense" the Japanese would be forced to destroy the Shanghai-Nanking railway as far west as Soochow, 50 miles away, and the Shanghai-Hangchow railway as far as Kashing, 50 miles to the southwest.

The offensive would begin he said, on March 2, unless Chinese troop movements ceased by that date.

Observers said they expected the notice meant the Japanese would begin extensive bombing operations along the railway.

Meanwhile, representatives of Japan and China talked peace aboard the British flagship, while a new battle raged in battered Chapi and 5,000 new Japanese troops were landed at Woosung.

The thunder of guns and bombs echoed through the streets of the international settlement as the conferees began their parley. Japanese artillery, machine guns, airplanes and infantry crashed shot shell against the blackened ruins of the Chapei sector, following the fall of Kiangwan village. Chinese machine guns again took up the ripping response of fire which for so long blocked the fierce thrusts at Kiangwan. The Chapei defenders were well-covered and they forced the Japanese into cover as soon as the fighting started.

Japanese artillery in Hongkew park inside the settlement boomed away. Chinese artillery remained silent, apparently wishing to be hidden from Japanese airmen.

Peace Proposal Outlined.

At the peace conference were Vice-Admiral Kichisaburo Normura and Rear Admiral Yosuke Matsuoko, representing Japan, and Dr Wellington Koo, former Chinese foreign minister, and the 19th route army chief of staff. Although the Japanese peace proposals were not published, unconfirmed reports outlined them as follows:

1—Both the Chinese and Japanese troops would withdraw to a definite line.

2.—A committee of Chinese and Japanese, including neutrals if desired, would supervise the withdrawel.

3.—Provisions for the protection of foreign and Chinese interests, the status of Shanghai and the policing of the evacuated zone would be discussed at a round table conference of all interested parties.

Rich Area is Threatened.

The threatened action against the railway area endangers many hundreds of square miles of the richest area in the lower Yangtze valley and one of the most densely populated areas in all China.

The country's best rice fields are located along the Shanghai-Nanking line and fine mulberry plantations extended virtually all the way from Shanghai to Soochow.

The heavy guns of today's battle began to roar soon after day light and if peace was near, it was not evident along the battlefront.

As the day wore on there were no signs of slackening in the heavy firing. Japanese said the attack was not an offensive but was made to protect the newly arrived troops moving into the lines.

The lines of both forces had not budged an inch.

The Chinese moved in additional forces of infantry behind their front line barricades, apparently expecting a Japanese infantry advance. The continuous sheets of

100,000 RUSS TROOPS READY

Soviet Soldiers Near Manchurian Line, Japs Say.

By The Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Feb. 29.—W. M. Karakhan, acting Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, has given Russia's consent for limited Japanese troop transportation on the Chinese Eastern railway in northern Manchuria if the Japanese respect Soviet rights and interests in the area.

Karakhan charged last week that troops were expected to be sent to the Soviet border. Denying this the Japanese reiterated that the troops were necessary for protection of Japanese subjects in the eastern part of Manchuria.

By The Associated Press.

TOKYO, Feb. 29.—Japanese Consul Yamaguchi at Vladivostok telegraphed the foreign office today he was informed from a reliable foreign source 100,000 Soviet Russian troops are stationed in Vladivostok and along the Ussuri railway near the northern Manchurian border.

Two army corps were in the immediate vicinity of Vladivostok he said. Adding that his informant told him the fortifications at the entrance of Vladivostok harbor and also on Russian island were strengthened by new heavy guns and anti-aircraft defenses. Transportation of military supplies, he said, was going on day and night and three new forts were built at Sedanka on Amur bay, near Vladivostok.

He was told, he said, the Russians believed a Russo-Japanese clash is inevitable.

At the same time, predictions of "fair prospects for peace" at Shanghai were made by a government spokesman, while officials were greeting a commission sent by the League of Nations to investigate.

The government spokesman said "sincere efforts" were being made at Shanghai and Geneva to arrange a truce.

Members of the Manchurian investigation committee declined to discuss the far-eastern situation or their own plans before they had conferred with Japanese officials. The commission is made up of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy. General Frank R. McCoy is the American member. They will remain in Japan until March 11 and then sail for Shanghai.

"DUTCH" ZELLERS, "PETE" SCHREIBER ONCE "TOUGH GUYS"

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE AIDS ADMIT ROLES

Former E. Liverpool Men Tell Own Stories.

QUIT OLD WAYS

Columbus Newspaper Man Is Granted Interview.

"Two men who once were among the 'toughest guys in the state' attended the annual session of the Anti-saloon league of Ohio at the Deshler-Wallick hotel in Columbus last week," The Columbus Citizen says.

"Charles D. 'Dutch' Zellers, who once was a highway robber, penitentiary convict, saloon and brothel keeper with a record of 52 arrests to his 'credit,' today is superintendent of the Dayton district of the dry league, comprising 16 counties.

"Peter 'Pete' Schreiber, who once drank down a half pint of whisky at a swallow, washed it down with a mug of beer and by repeated doses of this became "dead drunk," now is superintendent in the Canton district, comprising 17 counties.

"They had much in common, these two former 'tough guys' for they came from the same city, East Liverpool, and it was Schreiber who helped Zellers get out of his lawless life and become a useful, respected citizen.

Zellers Now is 57.

"Zellers, now 57, is a gray-haired, bluff and liquacious fellow who loves to recall the days when he was a bad man.

"'I was one of nine children who were left orphans by the death of our parents while we were very young," said Zellers, his eyes twinkling.

"'Where we lived—existed, I mean—there was a saloon on one side and a gambling house on the other. So what was more natural than for us to go into the paths of crime?

"'In 1896 I was sent to Ohio penitentiary to serve two years for highway robbery. I went back to East Liverpool and again I was sent back to the penitentiary for robbery.

"'The first term in prison didn't change me. The second did. I went to night school at the penitentiary and got some education. You see I only had gone to the third grade.

Once Owned Five Speakeasies

"'While I was in the penitentiary I was given 30 days in solitary for hitting a guard on the head with a brick.

"'When I went back to East Liverpool I was able to show sufficient character witnesses to get a license for a saloon. We also operated a gambling place and shady rooming house.

"'In 1907 East Liverpool was voted dry and I ran some speakeasies. I at one time owned five.

"'But in 1912 the preachers got after me so hard that I went to hear Billy Sunday talk. He converted me and I quit all my enterprises. I became a caterer.

Appointed Policeman

"'Then, at the request of Pete Schreiber, who was mayor of East Liverpool in 1913, I took the civil service examinations for policeman and got on the East Liverpool force.

"'After four years of this I came to work for the Railway Y. M. C. A. in Columbus. Then in 1920 James A. White induced me to join the Anti-Saloon league and work for it as a field officer.

"'For the last five years I have been superintendent of the Dayton district.

"'They ask me how I could quit the lawless life so suddenly. Well, it's because I'm so obstinate, I guess. I just decided to do it and did it. I don't drink, smoke or chew now. I never did drink much but I smoked an awful lot.'

"Zeller recalled that his former partner in crime, Richard Howell, was electrocuted for the killing of a Canton policeman.

Schreiber Converted 25 Years Ago

"Schreiber has been in the fold a little longer than Zeller.

"He was converted at a Cole revival in East Liverpool 25 years ago. His rise in civic esteem became rapid and in 1913 he was elected mayor of his city, an overwhelming tribute to a man who once was the king of 'booze histers."

"Schreiber, too, once an inveterate tobacco chewer and smoker, swore off the weed.

"Are they friends? Well, we ask you!"

EXPERTS HELP IN TAX WORK

Field Men Assist in Personal Tax Returns.

LISBON — For a short, but indefinite period, County Auditor John H. Irwin will continue the policy of placing representatives of that office in the field for the purpose of assisting in the determination of personal tax returns.

Those who started this field work last week are Harry R. Hum, Albert Ward and R. E. Charlton. One-half of the personal tax due is collected by these field men when the return is signed.

Charlton will maintain headquarters at the Central fire station, East Liverpool, during the current week, while Hum will be at Salineville Monday and Tuesday. Ward will receive personal tax returns at the office of R. S. Chamberlain at East Palestine until Wednesday night, and he will be at the office of Mayor Harry S. Arnold, Leetonia, from Thursday to Saturday inclusive.

The former office of the county commissioners at the court house is now being used as the tax division office of the auditor's office, the commissioners having removed their offices to that of Prosecuting Attorney John E. Bauknecht.

CITY GETS O. K.

The board of health of Wellsville has placed the seal of approval on the city building which was recently renovated and repainted. Changes were also made in the plumbing system while the cell rooms were not neglected.

GERMAN PRESIDENTIAL FIELD

By the Associated Press

Four candidates are in the race for president of Germany, the main issue being continuation or rejection of the policies of Heinrich Bruening, chancellor. A clear majority on the first ballot will win, but that result is not expected. On the second ballot a plurality will be sufficient. Here are brief word pictures of the candidates:

PAUL VON HINDENBURG

Paul Von Hindenburg, seven years ago a legendary hero of the world war, is now, an octogenarian, in his third career.

He was a professional soldier from the time of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71, until he laid aside his routine garrison life, for the quiet existence of a super-annuated officer.

Then the world war came. He was called back to take command on the eastern front, smashed the Russians at Tannenberg and was made a national hero.

He became chief field marshal of the west, constructed the "Hindenburg line" and in November, 1918, got his defeated army back home in Germany without the anarchy that many feared would result from the debacle in the field.

Again retired, he was called to service the third time in a new field, politics, in 1925. The nationalists and parties of the right united on him for the second presidential ballot and he was elected.

Now he has again answered "a call of duty" and is standing for re-election, but this time backed mainly by the centrists.

ERNST THAELMANN

Ernst Thaelmann, head of the communist party in Germany, is that faction's perennial candidate for high office in the Reich.

He ran in both presidential ballots of 1925, but in the final finished a poor third.

But much water has run under Germany's political bridges in the seven years. Pre-election forecasts have already conceded that Thaelmann's party will come close to doubling their 1925 vote, although that would not be sufficient to elect.

THEODORE DUESTERBERG

Theodore Duesterberg entered the German presidential race with the backing of 800,000 world war veterans organized as "The Society of the Steel Helmet," and of the shattered nationalist party headed by Alfred Hugenberg.

The step marked a definite rift between these two elements of the German "right" and the national socialists under Adolf Hitler. It drove Hitler into the race himself.

But Duesterberg and Hitler agree on several points and particularly upon the treaty of Versailles as the source of Germany's present woes.

ADOLF HITLER

Adolf Hitler, leader of the national socialists, started his run for president of Germany while his citizenship of that republic was in dispute.

But appointment to a professorship in Brunswick university, coupled with delivery of a lecture in that capacity, fulfilled the letter of the law, even if it did not satisfy his opponents.

The former Austrian tried to be an artist, failed to achieve that goal, took to interior decorating, enlisted in the German army and won a medal in the World war.

He has been pictured as the antithesis of the venerable von Hindenburg, gaining his points less by rigid determination, than by eloquent pleadings.

But his "nazis," worship him. His remarkable oratory sways thousands and his undisputed personal courage holds them.

He has taken part in several of the hottest riots and political fights of his militant organization and once, it is related, led in person a band of 50 fighters who cleared 800 opponents out of a hall with a barrage of chairs and fists.

SENATOR WILL MAKE ADDRESS

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29.—A. O. Stanley, former governor and United States senator of Kentucky, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, March 17. Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, and Governor Albert Ritchie of Maryland, also have been invited to speak.

HYPNOTISM IS USED BY VICAR

LONDON, Feb. 27—When prayer seems to fail, the Rev. W. J. Cornelius, vicar of All Saints's church, tries hypnotism.

"Hypnotism working through the church can have good results," said the vicar, who claims to have such powers. "The opinion that it is evil is wrong. By hypnotism I once saved the life of a man who was supposed to be dying. He could get no response until I put him to sleep."

Cornelius said hypnotism could be used to treat cases of drunkenness, but the remedy usually was not lasting.

Ceramic Business On the Upgrade

Indicative of the improvement in the ceramic business, the Homer Laughlin China company's four plants at Newell, which have been operating on a part-time basis since last July, will be placed on full time schedules this week.

Four hundred and fifty workers will be given jobs at the No. 6 plant, which has been idle for eight months, while full-time operation will be the rule at plants No. 4, 7 and 8, thus increasing the total number of employes to 3,000, most of whom live in East Liverpool.

There has been a steady increase in production at the Newell plants during the last few weeks, thanks to several large orders which have been received by the Laughlin interests, owners of the world's largest ceramic plant.

Potteries in Chester, another neighbor of East Liverpool, also have been operating on increased schedules, contributing more evidence in support of the fact that business is on the upgrade.

It is good news for East Liverpool as well as Newell and Chester, for the three cities are in every sense of the term the center of the American ceramic industry, providing imployment for more than 5,000 persons.

Leap Day.

Today is the unwanted orphan of the calendar. Every four years it bobs up like a country relation on the eve of a party—something to be taken care of and sandwiched in as inconspicuously as possible.

Calendar reformers have an idea what they would like to do with it, but the suggestion falls down for the same reason that their whole plan to bring the calendar up to date falls down. People can't be convinced that it would be worth the trouble.

So Leap day just has to manage to get along the best it can. It will be brightened slightly by the unreasonable joy of fortunate ladies whose children will help them celebrate their 10th birthdays and blessed by the arrival of the customary daily average of other young ladies and gentlemen whose birthdays henceforth will fall only once in four years.

Other than that it can't claim much honor. Like an unfamiliar gadget on an automobile that no one thinks about until the march of time forces attention to it the best it can hope for in the way of recognition is a lifting of the eyebrow and a surprised, "What! That thing again?"

Two Sides, As Usual.

Sentiment in Ohio's urban districts is pretty generally to the effect that a special session of the general assembly to consider the unemployment relief problem is inevitable. Considerable pressure has been brought to bear on Governor White to give the necessary executive order. He is being criticized severely for his reluctance to take such action.

The governor's position on the fence is an uncomfortable one, yet he does well to consider well before he jumps. It is by no means a free choice between landing in a vacant meadow lot or one in which an angry bull is pastured. There is danger on both sides. Mr. White and the state both would be better off it were not necessary to jump at all.

The Ohio Chamber of Commerce says, "Don't call a special session until it is imperative." Welfare workers say, "It is imperative now. The legislative mill grinds slowly. It cannot be started too soon." Business men say, "There must be no increase in state taxation and no dangerous loosening of taxation restriction." Welfare men say, "The needy must be cared for at any expense. They represent labor; they must be protected as completely as possible."

Governor White weights the arguments and hesitates, postponing the fatal day as long as possible. He, perhaps more clearly than some of his critics, forsees the struggle between rural and urban factions in a special session of the assembly to provide relief for the cities.

What 1,800 Business Men Say

The man next door has his opinion on business. He thinks it's bad, although he has heard of a couple small businesses that reported to be doing well.

The man in the barbershop has his opinion, too. Things look pretty bad to him also, but he believes that the depression is going to have some good effects. For instance, it will bring about needed reorganizations, and when the people who have money decide to spend it freely again things will go along better than ever.

It has been the tendency of conversations on the depression to take on a tone of commiseration. Business men talking together sympathize with each other. It hasn't been the style to be cheerful.

A summary of 1,800 confidential letters from business men to the Kiplinger Washington agency is of particular value, therefore. There is likely to be more honesty in a letter than in conversation. In making a digest of the 1,800 letters available, the Kiplinger agency is performing a real service.

Hopelessness and extreme despondency are going out and are being replaced by a constructive attitude, the summary shows. Despite absence of definite signs of improvement, a representative cross section of American business believes the upward climb has been started.

Permanent recovery before next fall is not expected, but the end is in sight. The discouragement of wondering just how bad the depression really might become is no longer an important factor in the outlook.

Wage earners are up against it, but middle and upper class spenders are in a position to spend more —and may do so. Retail prices are felt to be out of proportion to lowered wholesale prices, which is one of the more interesting facts disclosed in the summary.

Excessive government expenditures are resented.

A number of business men are of the opinion that the greatest offenders in the practice of hoarding are their well-to-do friends.

The federal government's program to bolster business is approved for the most part and the President's chances for reelection are reported to be improving. "He has received more than his share of criticism, and there is now a reaction." (John Garner should be interested).

Local relief situations are generally reported to be well organized and "satisfactory under the circumstances." Outside aid is not needed, except a few large cities which are looking ahead with considerable apprehension to anticipated crisis in the spring.

Prohibition sentiment seems to be increasing, with growing emphasis placed on need for revenue.

Perhaps the most significant single fact brought out in the summary is the admission by a considerable number of business men that they do not expect salvation through credit. Many borrowers admit they have had too much credit in the past. Bankers are criticized less, on the whole, than might be expected from the current tone of conversation.

When the Outs Get In.

Eamon De Valera, Ireland's back seat driver, has climbed under the wheel and is scowling ferociously down the road. His predecessor, who had been doing a pretty fair job of driving until Mr. De Valera forced him out, promises to get in behind and keep his advice to himself. He knows what the old bus will and won't do, but if Mr. De Valera wants to try his hand just as Ireland is heading into a particularly bad stretch of road, good luck to him, and that's that.

There is evidence that Ireland's case is typical of what often happens to a good government in a bad year. Voters get disgruntled. They get to talking about the desirability of giving the other party a chance. They grow impatient because the party in power can't dispel all the clouds and introduce a millennium. They eat up the sour words of criticism and refuse the sweet words of praise. They decide impetuously that nothing could be worse and something might be better, so they go to the polls and elect the outs.

William T. Cosgrove, the defeated president, philosophically states that he proposes to let the victors work out a plan of prosperity. He will assist, if possible. "They blamed us for financial depression and low prices—If they succeed I will take off my hat to them," he promises. Perhaps Mr. Cosgrave isn't so sorry as he should be about being defeated, particularly since he, more than any other man, understands what a pretty mess his esteemed rivals are approaching so eagerly. If he isn't going to be too busy the Democrats might find it a good idea to bring him over here for a speaking tour.

France Squares Away Again.

The French, in a characteristic whirlwind of impetuosity, have patched up another government and instructed it to square away with the opposition. This time Andre Tardieu has the honor of heading the ministry. Pierro Laval, lionized in this country last summer, has been obliged to give up the title he graced so excellently—perhaps only temporarily. Premier Tardieu's ministry is the 85th in the history of the republic. There will be another change soon, and very probably M. Laval will be head man the next time.

The-in-and-out type of government control favored by the French is puzzling to Americans, who have the Teutonic liking for permanency of control. Americans, like Germans, favor strong rule. A president, for instance, frequently is criticized for taking a negative attitude; rarely for taking a positive attitude. The French, on the other hand, have no liking for dictatorship in any form. They may not take their republicanism more seriously, but they take it straight.

A heavy-handed government frightens them. Party structure and the French temperment combine to keep control constantly in a ferment. A ministry maintains itself only with difficulty, realizing all the while that defeat is imminent. In the long run, of course, fewer men actually govern the country than would be possible in the United States, where politics is an avocation and not an occupation, but the few are shifted constantly. That's the French way.

WHISKEY AND MOSQUITOS.

By J. H. Galbraith.

For The Associated Press

Randolph township, Portage county, like most of the Western Reserve was originally peopled with immigrants from Connecticut, mostly Congregationalists, and puritanical in their ideas of conduct. In spite of this the conditions prevailing through the first three decades, caused most of the people there to become engaged in one way or another in the manufacture of whiskey. There was little demand for the surplus grain raised, and no adequate means of transporting it, if there had been; so the bulk of it was converted into whiskey which was one product for which there was universal and constant demand. It sold for only 25 cents a gallon, but in spite of that, it seemed to be the best way of getting money.

In 1830 when there were not over 700 inhabitants in the entire county of Portage, there were in operation no less than 163 distilleries. Of course many of them were small, but the aggregate of their output was in that year 16,400 gallons of whiskey. Then New England conscience began to work, stimulated by the effect of local drunkedness. Randolph had received its full shar of the woe, and a temperance society was organized with 40 members. By 1837 practically all the people in the township had signed the pledge. A great religious revival in connection helped the movement and the whiskey business suffered a death blow.

The immigrants had found the country extremely healthful. It escaped the "chills and fever" disease that harassed the swampy Ohio district. In the first 11 years after it was settled, Randolph township had but one death. Then people began to construct mill ponds in connection with their water mills, and ague came. Doubtless mosquitos bred in the pond's stagnate water. The settlers did not understand it, but they did associate it in some way with the mill ponds and there were strong objections. But they had to have mills as they did not have whiskey and the ponds remained.

New York Day By Day

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Through town, talking to Victor Moore, the play actor, "Duke" Herrick, park commissioner, and Sophie Tucker. And home to find an autographed book from John Uri Lloyd, who wrote that treasured tome, "Stringtown on the Pike."

At my typing and came Hattie Bell Johnston, bringing a paper knife she picked up at Sarajevo, where the World war started. Later to a tea, talking to Frank Libuse, the blundering waiter, and incredible to realize such an intelligent fellow could appear so goofy.

With my wife to the Irvin Cobbs for dinner and the George Ormbys of San Francisco there, also Mrs. Peggy Drum and the former Christie McDonald, entrancing star of "Spring Maid," who told some of the most devastatingly hilarious tales ever I heard. So home late to bed.

Some one dialed to a screeching singer who announced it was her first appearance before the microphone. "Why a microphone?" murmured Jim Quirk with satirical detachment. "Why not just open the window?"

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

"SLEEPING SICKNESS" is a term that has a kind of mysterious sound. As a matter of fact, the disease itself is something of a mystery. While it is undoubtedly a germ disease, no scientist has been able to discover the special organism that conveys it. It is thought that some virus migrates to the brain and sets up the changes which produce the disease.

Although a person of any age may be attacked by sleeping sickness, the evil results in affected children are especially severe. In many cases unhappy changes in disposition, unruly conduct, as well as hysterical symptoms, have been traced to causes unrecognized in the beginning.

The early symptoms of the disease in children are indefinite. Often the little patient makes no complaint, but seems dull and listless. He is inclined to sleep, and when aroused takes no interest in his surroundings, quickly relapsing into sleep.

Another type of case is ushered in by convulsions, nausea and delirium, with inability to sleep. Some children attacked by this type of the disease are unable to sleep during the early part of the night, but at about 4 o'clock in the morning fall into heavy slumber which may last far into the afternoon.

The duration of the acute disease may be from a few days to a few weeks. The after-effects may persist for months or years. In certain rare cases the child may seem normal for months, but later develop nervous symptoms of more or less severity.

Changes in the habits of sleep are most characteristic of the ailment. There may be pronounced wakefulness, or marked sleepiness, and sometimes the desire to sleep overcomes the patient at the most inopportune times.

Problem Children

Some children, as I have suggested, show a change in disposition, becoming cruel or developing thieving or lying tendencies. Although the mentality seems but little affected, in some cases hysteria, emotional instability and lack of self-control make the child a problem case.

The symptoms of brain disorder in other cases take the form of muscular disturbances, such as paralysis of the eyelids or the facial muscles, or there may be various movements like St. Vitus' dance which torment the unfortunate child. Difficulty in walking may partially incapacitate him.

Certain institutions for nervous cases have undertaken, with considerable success, the care and education of children suffering from the after effects of sleeping sickness. It is certain that in view of their unstable nervous systems, and poor adjustment to their surroundings, a special type of training is necessary to assist them to become useful members of society.

Answers To Health Queries.

H. E. Q.—Would it be dangerous to undergo an operation for gall stones while having yellow jaundice? Would such an operation be apt to cause a kidney infection?

A.—Your doctor should be the one to decide this question since he is familiar with all the underlying facts and circumstances in the case. Follow his advice.

M. J. M. Q.—What would account for a dry, choking feeling in the throat accompanied by dizzy spells? My doctor does not seem to enlighten me along these lines.

A.—This condition might be due to a circulatory disturbance, to nervousness, etc. A thorough examination should not only fix the cause but should also be helpful in determining the necessary treatment. Try to improve your general condition meanwhile. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM JONES.

A RECENT anniversary edition of the Los Angeles Times carries a replica of part of its Sunday issue of Dec. 4, 1881. A copy of it was sent to an East Liverpool man. It reveals the country as having recovered somewhat from the shock of the passing of President James A. Garfield. At the time the paper was printed, Charles G. Guiteau, his assassin, had just completed a three-day testimony upon the witness stand in his trial for the crime.

It seemed that part of the policy of the defense lawyers was to suggest that Guiteau in his act was motivated by a lack of mental responsibility. To this end it was emphasized that at no time had the prisoner indicated remorse for shooting the president in the preceding July while in the Washington railway station en route to New England.

"Guiteau left the witness stand this afternoon after his three-day siege a broken man," the Times disclosed. "He was tired out, haggard, faded, disgusted, sullen and ugly and there seemed about him a consciousness that Judge Porter, the cross examiner, had, despite cunning theories and his persistence, shown that the inspiration theory was simply a part of the defense planned long before."

Guiteau had testified that he had gone to the river bank to fire at the marsh reeds as targets. It was felt that he had done so because of malice and with the notion of doing that which he later did. "Do you feel any remorse?" was the last question hurled at him by Judge Porter, the account noted. After reflection he replied: "I have felt remorse of course as far as my personal feelings are concerned." Then Judge Porter, with astounding quickness dramatically retorted: "That will do, prisoner; your examination is closed."

It was said that Guiteau, withering under the interrogations of the prosecuting lawyer, felt the terrible effect of his confession. A dozen times during the cross examination Guiteau had declared that his mind was a blank upon the subject. He had during all of the weeks intervening after the shooting of President Garfield maintained to the experts that came to visit him that a thought of remorse had never come to him.

HIS admission thus caused a sensation in the court that was trying him. It made his relatives present shudder because of the effect it was certain to have upon his case. "With cat-like quickness Guiteau rallied from what seemed like paralysis caused by the thundering of Judge Porter at him and endeavored to correct what he plainly saw was the effect of that admission," the Washington dispatch to the Times indicated.

The result was, although his attorney tried to assist him somewhat, that Guiteau left the stand more discouraged than at any time since his trial had began. Judge Cox, presiding, ruled against Guiteau apparently during the later testimony of J. O. P. Burnside for Attorney Scovill of the defense noted several exceptions. The witness testified that he never saw anything in the conduct of the prisoner that would indicate that he did not know the difference between guilt and innocence.

A sister of Guiteau was said to have been particularly affected by the damaging tendency of the evidence thus given. The London Times reflected the viewpoint of the trial of the slayer of President Garfield in England when a dispatch to the Los Angeles Times noted: "The Times, in discussing the system of allowing the assassin to give evidence, says the incidents of Guiteau's trial ought not to prejudice our decision in regard to this important question. His boisterous vanity would have insured scenes at his trial under any system."

On the same Sunday night of this paper's appearance a "religious" illustrated lecture was given at the Turn-Verein hall of Los Angeles by Anna Eva Fay. It was announced that she was fresh from her recent triumph at the Grand Opera house, San Francisco. Her subject was "Spiritualism." It was noted that Miss Fay was considered by the critics of the country and of Europe as the "greatest living medium." The organ on its travels, materialized forms, spirit forms, spirit hands and spirit music with special communications from friends were announced as some of the things that would be carried out during her appearance.

FOR decades thereafter Anna Eva Fay traveled about the country. She was frequently seen and heard in East Liverpool. On the following Saturday evening at the same Los Angeles hall, Charles L. Davis appeared in his celebrated character comedy, "Alvin Joslin," described as the only truly representative of the New England farmer. The admission was $1 and it was declared that those attending would have "180 laughs in 180 minutes." The issue of the paper was its first, its principles being Republican. Its interest was in Los Angeles, its initial announcement noted, and "the general improvement and welfare of Southern California counties."

This issue of the paper also stood out by reason of the fact that it carried the story of the selection of the previous day, Saturday, Dec. 3, 1881, of Joseph W. Keifer of Springfield, O., as the nominee of the Republican caucus for speaker of the house of representatives. He was elected to that position.

It was necessary to take 16 ballots to make the nomination. The candidates were General Keifer, presented at the caucus by Representative Hazelton; Frank Hiscock of New York by Representative Camp; John H. Kasson of Iowa by Representative Cannon; Mark H. Dunnell of Minnesota by Representative Stall; L. Godlove Orth of Indiana by Representative Calkins; J. C. Burrows of Michigan by Representative Horn, and Thomas B. Reed of Maine by Representative Lindsey.

There were 146 of the 147 Republicans of the house present at this caucus which was called to order by Representative Jay Hubbell of Michigan. Representative Robeson of New Jersey was elected chairman of the caucus and Representative Miller of Pennsylvania clerk. The first ballot gave Keifer, 52; Hiscock, 44; Kasson, 15; Reed, 13; Burrows, 10; Orth, 8; Donnell, 4. It was necessary for a candidate to have 74 votes in order to be nominated.

James G. Blaine failed in an effort to have the representatives vote by voice. It was not until the fifth ballot that Representative John D. White of Kentucky cast his first vote. From the seventh to the 15th ballot General Keifer made gradual gains upon his opponents.

The 13th ballot was thrown out because the total vote revealed one more vote than the entire number of representatives voting. Receiving 61 votes in the 15th General Keifer won in the 16th when he had 93, 19 more than was necessary for a choice. Hiscock was second with 18. He immediately moved to make the nomination of General Keifer unanimous.

1931 HEALTHY YEAR IN OHIO FIGURES SHOW

Death Rate Was 11.2 For Each 1,000 Persons.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29. — The year 1931 was a healthy one for Ohio.

The death rate was 11.2 per 1,000 population, the lowest ever recorded for any year since the establishment in 1908 of the division of vital statistics in the state department of health, division officials reported today.

During the year, 75,577 deaths were recorded as compared with 76,216 in 1930, when the rate was 11.4 per 1,000 population. The decrease amounted to two deaths daily.

The greatest reduction in any single cause of death, the division reported, was in accidents. The decrease in this class totaled 1,065.

Increases were reported in influenza, cerebral hemorrhage, pneumonia, cancer, suicide, scarlet fever, diphtheria and diabetis.

A shadow of the disastrous Ohio penitentiary fire was found in the report. Conflagration deaths in 1930, the year of the prison fire in which 320 convicts met death, totaled 394, while in 1931 the total was 40.

Comparative statistics issued by the division showed:

Cause of Death	1930	1931
Automobile accidents	2,063	1,952
Railroad accidents	461	273
Homicide	623	577
Suicide	1,171	1,238
Accidental falls	1,495	1,200
Heart diseases	15,200	14,962
Cancer	6,883	6,013

BANDITS ROB THEATER SAFE

Steubenville Show House Entered By Two Men Today; Janitors Gagged and $250 Taken.

Two gunmen, who bound and gagged two janitors, took $250 from the safe of the Capitol theater in Steubenville about 1:30 a. m. today and escaped.

The janitors were at work in the lobby when the robbers asked them to go in the theater and look for a piece of jewelry they had lost while attending the show Sunday night. When the janitors let them in, they flashed guns and gagged the employes.

They "cracked" the safe, took all the money that was in it and fled.

Charles Alexander, Formerly of Wellsville, Drays Stiff Penalty Before Municipal Judge Brokaw.

Charles Alexander, formerly of Wellsville was fined $400 and costs Sunday by Municipal Judge Harry Brokaw when he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. Alexander will be taken to the county jail at Lisbon today unless the fine is paid, Judge Brokaw said.

Alexander was arrested Saturday at 2:45 p. m. at East Fourth and Washington streets when Patrolman George Curran gave him a "ticket" for parking his automobile in a restricted zone.

When Alexander got into his machine, Curran noticed a jug of whiskey in the seat and took the owner of the car to police headquarters, where a charge of possession was preferred.

HOLD HOPE IN PEACE PARLEYS

Tokyo Prepares to Begin Attack on Chinese.

Chinese machine gun fire seemed enough to discourage any attempt to push the Japanese line forward.

Wounded and dead were everywhere.

Woosung Forts Bombed.

While I prowled within the Japanese camp unchallenged, several Japanese seaplanes dropped bombs on the Woosung forts and surrounding territory, apparently to keep the Chinese within their dugouts and to forestall any possibility of the Chinese opening up on the new troops from the guns in the fort, within easy range.

Along the upperreaches of Woosung creek some firing was going on in the Japanese machine gun positions. The Japanese apparently were seeking either to penetrate the Chinese defenses along the south shore of the creek or to amuse themselves shooting at nothing in particular. Life in that sector has recently been dull and monotonous.

As a result of the arrival of the new troops at Woosung the waterfront there and at the Japanese positions behind it became extremely active again.

When I arrived there the forces were all landed. Immense piles of supplies were heaped up by the water's edge. The soldiers were carrying large numbers of pistols, rifles and machine guns into the camp and others were testing these guns by raining bullets into muddy Whangpoo river.

FINN FASCISTS WAR-LIKE.

Helsingfors Army Acts To Block Threatened March on Capital.

By The Associated Press.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Feb. 29.—The Finnish army acted today to block a threatened march on Helsingfors by a force of several thousand Fascists, who concentrated yesterday at Mantsala, 35 miles away.

Before day troops moved out to strategic points around the capital.

All entrances to the capital were guarded by troops equipped with machine guns and heavy ordnance. All trains were stopped and searched 25 miles from the city limits.

Thousands of additional members of the Lapua (Fascist) movement organized to put down Finnish communism, were reported concentrated at Hameenlinna, 70 miles away. The government learned that 4,000 armed men were concentrating at Mantsala and claiming they could muster 20,000 for a march on the capital.

FORMER BANKER FACES CHARGE

Maxwell Cox Will Return East to Deny Embezzlement From New Jersey Company.

By The Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 29.—Maxwell A. Cox, former vice president of the Irvington Trust company of Irvington, N. J., announced today he was ready to return east to deny charges he embezzled $11,800 of the company's funds.

His decision not to oppose extradition was reached after Mrs. Marie Marx, of St. Mary's, Ohio, who said she accompanied Cox on a motor trip to Los Angeles, had turned over several packages of securities to authorities. Mrs. Marx said she still loved Cox and would stand by him

Cox denied he stole the securities, asserting he put up collateral and signed notes for the amount he allegedly embezzled.

AUTOMOBILE LOOTED.

R. Shown, of 710 Sixth avenue, Altoona, Pa., reported to police Sunday that a lap robe, valued at $7.50, had been stolen from his automobile while it was parked in West Third street Saturday night. A loose-leaf drug catalog was also taken, Shown said.

GRAIN

Chicago.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—Contrasting with securities, grain prices went downward early today. Lower quotations on wheat at Liverpool, owing to enlarged supplies in Great Britain had a bearish effect. Opening unchanged to 1-4c off, Chicago wheat futures subsequently receded all around. Corn started at a shade decline to 1-8 to 1-4c advance, and afterward sagged.

Hopes of improved demand for North American wheat tended to curb setbacks in the market here. Another check on declines was that prices were so low few speculators apparently saw much incentive to sell. The fact that monthly unofficial domestic crop summaries were due tomorrow tended further to make traders temporarily reluctant to enter into new commitments.

Cables reported that as a result of heavy arrivals, stocks of wheat and flour at Liverpool had increased 600,000 bushels this week. A sudden cold wave overspreading European continental countries gave promise of larger purchases by importers in various directions. Meanwhile the amount of wheat on ocean passage was almost the same both as a week ago and at this time last year. Corn and oats followed wheat.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in hog values.

FILM EXPLODES STARTING FIRE

Home of Paul Timberlake, St. Clair Avenue Damaged in Saturday Night Blaze.

Fire, starting when a motion picture film exploded from a short circuit, caused damage estimated at about $250 in the residence of Paul Timberlake in St. Clair avenue, Saturday at 10:30 p. m.

Firemen from the Central station, who extinguished the blaze, said the fire was confined to the first floor of the dwelling but that smoke damaged some furniture on the second floor.

Furniture in the first floor, where the films exploded, was scorched by the flames.

Central department firemen were also called out Saturday at 7:50 p. m. to extinguish a fire in the attic of the home of Mrs. Priscilla Buchanan in Lisbon street. The fire started in a clothes press and little damage resulted.

WOMEN RULE AURORA, ILL. FOR ONE DAY

Bachelor Girls Assume Charge of City Government.

BY RUTH COWAN,
Associated Press Writer.

AURORA, Ill., Feb. 29.—This city of 50,000 awoke leap year day to be ruled by the powder puff.

Sixteen bachelor girls headed by madam the mayor—Miss Mildred Pratt—were showing the men how to run the municipal government.

A hundred women eased the masterly males out of their managerial seats in the banks, the newspaper offices, stores, hotels and all marts of trade.

Whether they liked it or not, early risers found—

Two score fair but determined traffic cops orders from Police Chief Dorothy Ward to give "tickets that stick."

Over at fire headquarters, Ruth Cole, and "Miss Illinois" at the Atlantic City beauty pageant three years ago, tucked her blonde curls into the fire chief's hat and with her corps of a dozen firewomen relieved the male night shift in time for breakfast.

Privileges for the males? They were permitted to sign the meal checks at the Elks' club luncheon in honor of the ruling eves and the eligibles who would accept proposals during the day could get the ceremony performed for nothing.

There were malcontents. They gathered about the soft drink parlor—those who dared—which alone of all places in the city voiced its protest in chalk on the window.

"Custer's last stand: The hand that rocks the cradle dosen't rule here."

TWO WOMEN ARE ATTACKED IN HONOLULU

Mrs. Kathleen Hope Unable to Identify Suspect.

CIGARS STOLEN

Local Authorities Unable to Cope With Situation.

By The Associated Press.

HONOLULU, Feb. 29.—Tension which gripped Honolulu in recent months because of attacks upon women and and attendant lynching, was revived today by an assault upon the wife of an enlisted man of the United States navy.

The victim, Mrs. Kathleen Hope, wife of John H. Hope, submarine machinist, was the second naval wife assaulted here in recent months.

Her attacker entered her home with a pistol Saturday night, bound her to a bed with stockings, assaulted her and then calmly helped himself to cigars on a table.

Then he terrorized Mrs. D. W. Curry, wife of another enlisted man, in an adjoining home. The husbands of the two women are at sea.

Officers arrested Edward Wong, 23, Chinese, but renewed the search when Mrs. Hope was unable to positively identify Wong and said she believed her attacker to be a Japanese.

The attack brought renewal of charges that local authorities could not cope with the situation and a plea that the federal government intervene.

The charges recalled widespread criticism of local law enforcement which followed the assault last September upon Mrs. Thomas H. Massie, wife of a naval lieutenant, and the resultant lynching of one of her alleged attackers.

The attack on Mrs. Hope came scarcely ten days before the scheduled trial of Lieut. Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, mother of Mrs. Massie and two naval enlisted men accused of the murder of Joseph Kahanawai, suspected attacker of Mrs. Massie.

HELD FOR ASSAULT.

William Ryan of Fifteenth street, Wellsville, charged with assaulting his father, Thomas Ryan, will be arraigned tonight before Mayor W. H. Daugherty. He was arrested at his home Saturday night.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

MR. AND MRS. JACOB W. Stein of 312 Monroe street announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Stein Black, to Murray Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gardner of Burlington, N. J., and Philadelphia, Pa. The ceremony took place Sunday, February 28, in the study of the Rodeph Shalom temple in Youngstown, with Rabbi I. E. Philo officiating.

The attendants included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph I. Stein of this city, the former being a brother of the bride.

Mrs. Gardner was attired in a fur trimmed beige traveling costume with hat to match. She wore a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor was gowned in royal blue with black caracul, and her flowers were gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner left immediately following the ceremony for a wedding trip through the east. After March 15, they will be at home at 312 Monroe street. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stein accompanied the Gardners as far as New York City.

MISS JEAN E. BLAKE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Blake of Columbus, formerly of this city, and granddaughter of Mrs. W. V. Blake of St. Clair avenue, is director of the Pi Beta Phi sorority choral society, which won the contest in the annual intramural festival at Ohio State college in Columbus, Friday night. Other sororities competing were the Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Delta Delta sororities. Campus sororities compete for this singing honor once a year and Miss Blake's sorority was winner of the honor last year, when she was also director. Miss Blake is a junior this year in the college.

MRS. JOHN S. GOODWIN was hostess to members of the Colonial club at her home in East Fifth street, Saturday afternoon. The quotation for the day was:

"Raphael is not dead!
He doth but sleep; for how could he be dead
Who lives immortal in the hearts
of men."

Ten members responded to roll call with works of art in Siena, after which a paper prepared by Mrs. Robert T. Hall on "An Appreciation of the Divine Interpreter," was read by Mrs. John S. Goodwin.

The next meeting will be held March 12, in the home of Mrs. W. E. Wells Sr., Newell Heights.

DATE SET FOR FUND CAMPAIGN

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 29.—The Mansfield community fund drive will be launched April 11, and continue for a week. The committee in charge has not yet decided on the amount to be sought.

COLUMBIANA

Mrs. C. D. Strickler was hostess to members of the Sorosis society Wednesday night at her home in North Elm street. The program consisted of a playlet honoring the Washington bicentennial, "Tea in Washington's Day." The members taking part were dressed in colonial costumes and were Nellie Koch, Mrs. C. D. Strickler, Mrs. T. J. Tidd, Mrs. Solon Morris and Mrs. C. H. Shontz taking the male parts. The program consisted of a number of old-time songs and ballads and closed with an old-time minuet. Mrs. F. H. Grove read a paper on "Washington, the Man." In conclusion light refreshments were served.

The playlet will be repeated at the Mother and Daughter banquet, sponsored by the Girl Reserves Wednesday night, March 2, at the high school auditorium.

Helen Lucile Lower, recently graduated from St. Luke's hospital school of nurses, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lower, south of town.

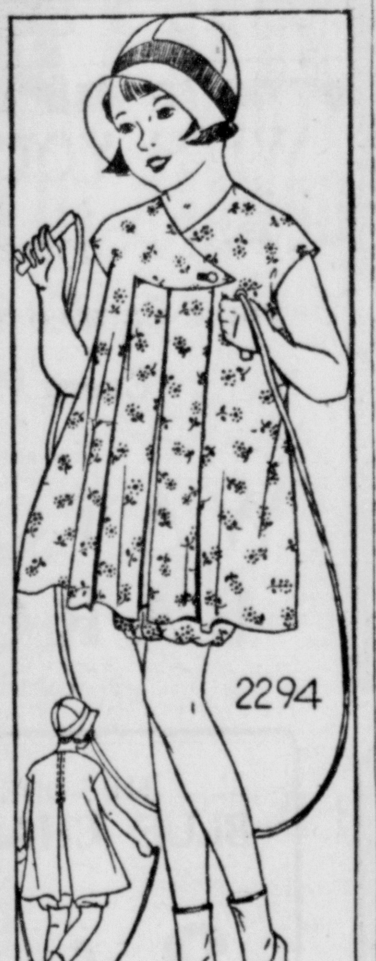
THE PREVAILING PATTERN

CHIC MODEL FOR SMALL GIRL
PATTERN 2294
STEP-BY-STEP INSTRUCTION DIAGRAMS GIVEN WITH THIS PATTERN

BY ANNE ADAMS



It's an adorable little frock with matching bloomers, and it came right over from Paris in yellow linen and one pearl button for trimming. You'll be amazed how easily and inexpensively it can be made, and if you do not care for linen, cotton broadcloth, percale, pique, dimity or gingham will be equally attractive. The dress is just perfectly styled for fullness and freedom as well as chic.

Pattern 2294 may be ordered only in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10. Size 4 requires 2⅜ yards of 36-inch material.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

SEND FOR THE SPRING FASHION CATALOG. This beautiful, colorful book offers 32 pages of chic, authentic Anne Adams styles for adults and children. The newest frocks for afternoon, evening and sports wear, exquisite lingerie, attractive house dresses and adorable kiddie models are featured — all personally chosen by Anne Adams and all fashionable, practical and easy and inexpensive to make. PRICE OF CATALOG, FIFTEEN CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. Address all mail and orders to The East Liverpool Review Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

WOODEN MONEY O. K.

TENINO, Wash.—That old one about "don't take any wooden money" isn't funny here where wooden money is welcome indeed.

When the bank closed, some medium of exchange was needed, so the Chamber of Commerce issued "money" printed on veneer slips in denominations of 25 and 50 cents and $1. Everyone is glad to get it.

INDUSTRY, PA.

A program in keeping with the bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington was given by the pupils of the Industry public school in the school building Friday night. In addition to the program rendered by the pupils, readins were given by Mrs. Ernest Frederick and Mrs. Allen Bartlett.

Mrs. Arthur Ewing and Mrs. Richard McLaughlin, teachers of the Industry school were in charge of the program which follows:

Piano solo, "Robin's Return," Marion Watson; "Be Careful What You Say," Alice Sullivan; Solo, "When the Work's All Done This Fall," Arthur Hoyt; "Somebody's Mother," Jack Hoodski; violin solo, "The Song of the Bell," Josephine Higham; "Rags," Marion Watson; "The Flag's Message," Agnes Sullivan; "The Little Army," primary boys; Just a Boy," John Rhinehart; "George Washington's Birthday," Arthur Hoyt; "Beautiful Flag," Delores Brooks; "Lincoln," seven boys; "Three Little Sisters," primary girls; violin solo, "Over the Waves," Edith Fairweather; "Hats Off," Robert Fraser; Flag drill, twelve boys; "Ship of Faith," Mrs. Ernest Frderick; "Se the Flag Waving," primary girls; George Washington," Wayne Steffler; Washington song and patriotic readings, sixth grade girls; "Popular Airs," John Cairns, William Fairweather, George Noah; "The Minuet," Thelma Wynn; "Ching Lo-Loo," three primary girls; "Aunt Jerusha's Meditation," Mrs. Allen Bartlett; "Americans," five boys; "Wooden Shoes," Josephine Highan; solo, "From Detschland," Margaret Knight.

Montana's 1931 production of sugar beets, and potatoes exceeded the 1930 output.

LIFEBUOY HEALTH SOAP

"B.O." A REAL DANGER

WE'RE fooling ourselves — and nobody else — when we say, "I'm not worried about 'B.O.'—body odor!" Even as we say it, we may be guilty! For it's always others who notice "B.O."— not the offender, whose sense of smell has become used to an ever-present odor. Why risk unpopularity? Wash and bathe with Lifebuoy. Its rich, creamy lather purifies and deodorizes pores — ends all danger of offending. Helps protect health by removing germs from hands.

Complexions grow radiant

Lifebuoy's pure, bland, deep-cleansing lather gently frees pores of clogged impurities—freshens dull skins till they glow with new youthful radiance. Its pleasant hygienic scent, that vanishes as you rinse, tells you Lifebuoy purifies! Adopt Lifebuoy today.

NAME OF LITTLE JACK LITTLE BASED ON HIS HEIGHT

John Leonard, Native Of England, Tells Reason.

John Leonard, a native of England, plays the piano every morning at 9 over WABC-CBS.

But he's not known as John Leonard. He is "Little Jack Little" to the radio world.

There's a story in the switching of the names. It seems now John Leonard, playing on one vaudeville circuit, wanted to switch to another. His manager warned that he couldn't get the job unless he changed his name.

So he picked Little Jack Little, based on his height; five feet, four inches.

Another change has been effected in the schedule of Bing Crosby. Instead of going on six times a week over WABC-CBS, beginning this evening, he is to sing each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The time will be changed from 7:15 to 6:30 p. m.

Bob Nolan's program on WJJZ-NBC changes from Mondays and Fridays at 7:30 p. m. to 9:45 p. m. Mondays and Wednesdays.

Fannie Hurst, novelist, as guest of the Women's Radio Review, March 8, via WEAF-NBC, is to speak on "Women Seem to Be People."

TRY THESE TONIGHT:

WEAF-NBC—7:15 — Robert Simmons, tenor; 8:30—Richard Crooks, tenor, taking Lawrence Tibbett's place, repeat at 11:30 for West; 9:30—Parade of States, Mississippi; 10:30—Mr. Bones and Company.

WABC-CBS — 7:15 — Manhattan Serenaders instead of Bing Crosby; 9:30 — Anniversary program in Smolin's orchestra period; 11:00—Barlow symphony increased to half an hour; 12:00—Ben Bernie.

WJZ-NBC—8:00 — Morgan L. Eastman Concert orchestra; 10—Canada's Mounted, "Island Affair;" 10:45—Ray Knight's Leap Year program; 11:30 — Jane Froman's orchestra.

TUESDAY HIGH SPOTS:

WEAF-NBC—2:30 p. m.—St. David's day program from Cardiff, Wales; 4:45—Frances Bowden; 8:00—Sanderson and Crumit.

WABC-CBS—1:15—Talk by Gerhart Hauptmann, German dramatist; 4:20—David Lloyd George speaking from St. David's day dinner in London; 9:30—Crime club, "Just Three Men."

WJZ-NBC—4:15—Mormon tabernacle choir and organ; 6:30—Ray Perkins; 8:00 — Voters' Service, "The Swope Plan."

BOY CRAZY

by GRACE PERKINS

SYNOPSIS: Determined to separate Hope Ross Dale and her young husband, Dickey, Hope's father knocks Dickey unconscious and tells Hope that her husband hasn't tried to communicate with her. Mr. Ross dislikes "Hickey," Dickey's father, and considers the marriage socially wrong. Hope has determined to stick to Dickey.

Chapter 19

LAUGHING-STOCK OF THE TOWN

"HASN'T—been here? Haven't you heard from him?" Hope asked.

"No."

"Then he's hurt! Something's happened!" Papa Ross thought quickly.

"No, he's perfectly whole and sound," he lied gruffly. "His father has talked to me on the phone."

"What did Hickey say?"

Papa Ross cleared his throat, and sought in his pocket for a cigaret.

"Hickey, as you call him, tried to be very placating at first," Papa Ross told her quietly. "But when he found out——"

"Yes? Yes? What, Daddie?"

"Really, Hope, I hate to tell you. I knew about them all along. I'm a better judge of people than you are, child. I was right in the first place——"

"Tell me!" stamped Hope stormily. "When he found out what?"

"When he learned that both your mother and I intended to cut you off entirely, your friend Hickey had a rather different tune to sing."

Hope stared at him. Brushed her hand against her eyes and stared again. For one brash moment came a stinging memory. . . . Dickey asking her to sign a pledge, that turned out to be her wedding license. . . . Dickey drawing as he asked her to sign, "Sign it, cricket, will you, so I can sue you for breach of promise if you don't make good. . . . ." Hope drew in her breath sharply and shook the thought from her, remembering it was a joke—a loving joke. . . .

She flung back her head and looked calmly into her father's eyes.

"I don't believe it," she mumbled. "No, it isn't true. Hickey had offered to back us—give us an allowance, set us up in Harmouth——"

"Talk — all talk!" snapped Mr. Ross, flicking his match out the window. "Windbag. Just putting on a face! When it came to a show-down, he was perfectly willing to listen to reason. The minute he heard I would disinherit and disown you——"

"You would do that to me?"

Her blank disbelief was punishment enough to Papa Ross for the sins he was committing.

"Yes, daughter. I would. Rather than see you ruin your life."

Two blue eyes studied him narrowly, and then up went the yellow head with a defiant toss.

"I wouldn't care! I'd still want Dickey!"

Mr. Ross drew his lips in between his teeth, and held on to his temper.

"I'm sorry to see you like that, Hope. It cuts me deeply that the boy got such a hold on you. Even if it is only in your imagination—"

"It isn't my imagination. I love him."

"Don't talk utter nonsense! Cracker-barrel love! Puppy love! Idiocy! The mere discovery at seventeen that you have emotions! Goodness, Hope, use your head; Does it mean nothing to you that he'd been drinking? That he's laid Rusty Crandall up with a broken eardrum? That instead of being able to talk to me like a man, he nearly threw me over and sprained my arm in an effort to show me my word meant nothing?"

"He didn't mean to hurt you. He was probably trying to get to me. You shouldn't have separated us like that! Why wouldn't you listen to us?"

Papa Ross treated her to the kind of foggy superior stare he often used at directors' meetings.

"Oh, I'm sorry you're hurt," she mumbled thickly, "but——"

"Certainly you're sorry," Papa Ross seized on the phrase. "The boy is sorry too. That doesn't make my arm pain any the less. Nor does any of it it make the pain in my heart less acute. You know I've loved you, Hope. . . ."

Hope reddened and turned with a restless shrug toward the window.

"I know you've loved me," she agreed thickly. "You know I've loved you, Dad. But you don't seem to think I have sense enough to love anyone else. Well, you're wrong. I know what I'm talking about. I'm married to Dickey, and I love him, and I'll go to him the moment he comes. And he will come!"

The break in her voice caused Papa Ross to wince.

She turned, as soon as she had conquered the desire to weep.

"Why are you looking at me like that?" she flared. "What are you waiting for? What did you mean—there is no Dickey?"

"I explained it to you."

"You mean — because of the money? Is that it? You think because Hickey backed water when he heard I wasn't to have any inheritance, that Dickey will desert me too? Well, you're it for an asylum!"

Papa Ross crossed his knee and pinched out the crease of his dark gray trousers.

"I'm afraid," his voice was thin as a wire, "I will be fit for an asylum before you get through with your nonsense. Now, look here, Hope, I'm trying to be very patient with you. You're going to find yourself the laughing stock of the town. And so is your family. Every one of us is going to feel cheap over this whole affair. I shall try to keep things as quiet as I can. But the long and short of it is, that your bull-headed half-baked hero has already deserted you."

"What do you mean? Why don't you tell me what he said?"

"I told you I haven't talked with Dickey," Papa Ross stuck to his lie. "I don't know what he said. Certainly he hasn't been man enough to come to me or get in touch with me, or attempt to see you. Since the moment he brought you home there hasn't been a murmur out of that young man. If that doesn't chalk up as a cad to you, then I don't know what you're made of."

"You're wrong, Dad. Dickey isn't like that!"

"Well, he and his father have skipped town very neatly. They're—gone!"

"Gone . . .?"

"They're on their way to Virginia. To somebody's hunting lodge down there. I found out that much, anyway. So if you have any idea that somebody's coming to rescue you, you might as well get right over it."

"You're crazy! You're lying to me! Tricking me! It isn't true!

"Well, see for yourself. Go and try to phone him."

Hope regarded him for one frightened second, considering his challenge. Then, without a word she marched out of her room. Walked unseeingly past Goody who had obviously been caught in the act of eavesdropping, crossed into her father's study and sat down by the phone.

She called Hickey's hotel-apartment. Talked to Rogers, the manservant, and listened to him explain that Mr. Dale and his son were on their way to Virginia and that he himself was to join them as soon as he could pack a few things.

"Any message, miss?" demanded Rogers politely.

Hope tried desperately to say "no." The word wouldn't come. She hung up and buried her head in her arms on the desk.

A hand on her shoulder startled her.

"Please!" she cried, pulling her shoulder away pettishly and getting to her feet. "Please. I want to be alone."

Carefully she made her way to the door of his study. At the threshold she looked back and gathered breath.

"I want you to know," she gasped brokenly, "that there's some awful mistake somewhere. He wouldn't desert me like that. We'll hear from him soon, I'm sure. And I'm going to wait before I judge!"

Papa Ross leaned back in his huge desk chair and looked out his casement-window.

He was not sorry. But ashamed! Brutally, miserably ashamed. Ashamed that he couldn't tell the truth to Hope. Ashamed at the memory of the bleeding youth he had so violently struck down, and whom Old Man Hickey had carted directly off to the boy's maternal grandmother, rather than face further publicity by going to a hospital. Ashamed that he really didn't know the extent of Dickey's injuries. Ashamed at the treatment Hickey's man-servant had neatly dealt him over the phone as he explained both the true circumstances and the false story which Hickey had given orders to have broadcast.

But still Papa Ross was not sorry. Still he believed that he had acted only for the best—for Hope's sake.

During the next three days Hope was a voluntary prisoner in her room.

GARAGE OWNER URGES REPAIR WORK NOW

WER PRICES OPTED FOR ULL SEASON

[illegible]s Does Excellent Work At Reduced Rates.

OVE-AVERAGE work at lower-than-average prices is the new motto of the Fife-Travis e garage, 104 Rural lane, Fife, owner of this establish- one of the most completely ed in the city, announced to- at for a short period of time uld offer special rates on re- ork.

Fife disclosed that this is the ime of the year for motorists e necessary repair work done ir automobiles. First of all, the "slow" time of the year rages and the special rates inducement that cannot be overlooked by the average automobile owner.

Well Equipped

The garages, at this time, are not as busy as they will be during the spring and summer, and consequently can give better and faster service. In the summer, when the garages operate both day and night to take care of the influx in business, the policy must naturally be "first come, first served."

The Fife-Travis garage is equipped to do work of any kind on any make of automobile, although they specialize on the Nash. As Mr. Fife said "we can do anything from greasing to painting under the one roof of our garage."

Mr. Fife has had years of experience as a mechanic in one of the city's leading garages. Two and one-half years ago he purchased the Fife-Travis Garage from Mr. Travis and has been operating it since that time with marked success.

Only the most skilled mechanics are employed and you can rest assured when you take your automobile for repairs that it will receive the best possible attention.

The Fife-Travis establishment also does excellent work in body repairing. A glance at some of the wrecked cars that have been rebuilt by them will testify to this.

Mr. Fife is also the exclusive dealer for Simplex piston rings.

Prices Astounding

Mr. Fife said that not so long ago a man had brought his machine in for repairs. When the work was done and he asked for his bill, he was astonished at the low charge. He explained that he expected to pay a higher rate because of the size of the garage and the excellent quality of work turned out.

Don't let this happen to you. Just drop in and talk with Mr. Fife and he will explain how such excellent work can be done to your automobile at an astounding low cost.

Telephone 589-J for the Fife-Travis garage or drive in at 104 Rural lane.

MOTORISTS IN DANGER WITH ROADS BUSY

Insurance Protection Necessary is Claim of C. W. Arnold.

During this period of the yeai the roads of the Tri-State district will be thronged with cars and drivers should continue to think of insurance for their protection.

"Newspapers every day carry stories of people injured in traffic accidents, of autos smashed to bits, of fire and theft of cars. What happens to the man who is unprotected? If his car is smashed, he loses everything. If he injuries a person he must pay the costs of the doctor and hospital bills and probably face a damage suit. If his car is stolen he has no comeback, and if it is destroyed by fire he has no recourse."

The thinking man of today, according to C. W. Arnold of the C. W. Arnold Insurance agency, Wellsville, has a reliable policy on his auto that protects him against everything.

One of the most complete and cheapest reliable policies found on the market today is the one issued by the Arnold firm. This company, which offers the widest service to motorists, will insure against personal liability, property damage, collision, and fire and theft at perhaps the lowest automobile insurance rate in Ohio. To make it still easier for the motorist, the company will allow him to pay for insurance by a deferred plan.

The personal liability clause of the policy offered by the company insures the owner against loss from legal liability arising from claims made against the insured for damages by reason of ownership, maintenance or use of his automobile.

Property damage insures the holder against damage or liability for the destruction of property.

INDIAN NEVER RODE IN AUTO

By International News Service.

CARMEL, Cal.—Panuchi, picturesque Carmel Indian, died when he was 104 years old but he never saw a movie or rode in an automobile.

This was disclosed, following his death in a hospital here, by persons interested in giving the penniless old Indian a decent burial.

Panuchi was said to be the only surviving member of the Indian tribe that once owned the entire, and now famous, Monterey peninsula. He lived for years on the edge of the city in a small tent.

When a youth Panuchi received his education in the historic old Carmel mission by priests who were disciples of the historic Father Junipero Sierra.

Wrecking Concerns Are Aid

Advantages Cited by Ceramic Firm's Manager.

The organization of auto wrecking establishments throughout the country has resulted in great changes of the automobile industry and has offered to the average motorist advantages which otherwise would not be available.

This, according to Abe Midler, manager of the Ceramic Auto Wrecking company at the old Dresden Pottery in Dresden avenue, is due entirely to the fact that because of the wrecking companies, motorists who have been involved in a recent automobile accident, can immediately obtain parts with which to equip their machine and make it serviceable as before.

The Ceramic Wrecking company specializes in used and wrecked cars. It purchases the wrecked and used machines, tears them down and saves the parts which can be utilized and again used in another car. In past years, Midler explains, when an automobile was wrecked, it was almost worthless, was junked and little thought ever given to it. Now, the wrecking companies make it possible for car owners to commercialize on the used or wrecked machine by offering it for sale.

Used Parts Can Be Purchased at Lower Price.

"Our sole purpose in operating is to salvage good parts of automobiles," Midler states. "We tear down autos and use their parts in various ways. By doing so we save the cost of producing these parts again, for there are many automobile parts which show little wear after being driven for thousands of miles, and which, after proper improvements are made, are as good as new.

"We place on the market parts 90 percent of which are as good as new, and which are much cheaper than newer ones. This results in a benefit to the motorist and has resulted in a great increase in the popularity of wrecking companies."

The Ceramic Auto Wrecking company's telephone number is Main 927-R. Mr. Midler is always on hand to offer the best possible service to the motorist in the way of all used parts from ties and engine parts down to caps for gasoline tanks.

Shoe Repairing Important Task

Good Work Can Be Big Aid to Family Purse.

Good shoe repair work can be one of the biggest aids to the family purse. On the other hand, poor work will mean that the head of the average family will spend more for the repairing than he can afford. Adults are more likely to conserve shoes than youngsters, but even they are "hard enough" on them.

However, youngsters give shoes the worst treatment. No boy and few girls think anything about saving shoes. They are simply necessities and the fact that sliding along an asphalt pavement behind a tractor will wear them out never enters the lad's head.

Norman's Shoe shop at 729 Dresden avenue is a sort of first aid station. Long experience enables Mr. Norman to size up a pair of shoes instantly and tell whether it is worth repairing or not. Incidentally he thinks people would do well to bring in shoes to be repaired a little earlier than most of them do. A new half sole before the shoe is run over is worth twice as much as one made after the shoe has lost its shape.

Iowa is the only state in the union between the Mississippi and the Missouri Rivers.

The Gastonbury thorn of England flowers on Christmas day.

TWO THINGS DUE MOTORIST

Entitled to Good Gasoline and Willing Service.

When a man drives up to a filling station he is entitled to two things, whether he is filling the Cadillac with all it will hold or is weaning the old "Model T" on one gallon. These two are good gasoline and smiling service. Even good gasoline with a grouch isn't enough. The smiles send him on his way rejoicing; the good gasoline carries him over the miles without a worry. The combination generally brings him back to the station for more.

The Midway Oil company service stations have profited both by good gasoline and oil and the smiling service. It is a pleasure to drive in and make your wants known. You are sure of getting the best the market affords in both gasoline and oil. You don't have to watch the pump to be sure you get all you are entitled to, and you get it with a service that just naturally warms your heart.

These are reasons, and good reasons, why these stations grow in popularity, why a lot of East Liverpool motorists, drive quite a distance to get their service and why you should make it a point to stop yourself.

USED PARTS WORTH MONEY

There is something of value about every machine, no matter how antique it may be. Used parts can always be turned into good use on another machine, if handled by experts.

A complete line of used parts is kept on hand at the Ceramic Auto Wrecking company, located at the old Dresden Pottery in Dresden avenue, and there auto owners can also turn in old parts for cash remuneration.

All kinds of used and wrecked automobiles are both bought and sold here.

Wind-driven rotors, mounted on flat cars running on a circular track, are seen as a possible source of cheap electric power.

POTTERS BURY REDSKINS UNDER 36-18 SCOR

Dixonmen Hang Up 17th Win

Ceramics Now Eye District Tournament.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT,
Sports Editor, The Review.

ONE of the greatest basketball teams in the history of East Liverpool high school today started preparations for the annual Eastern district tournament scheduled for the Dennison auditorium on March 4-5 and 11-12. The Dixon-coached quintet concluded its regular season play on the local court Saturday with a brilliant 36-18 victory over Coshocton.

Riddled by injuries and sickness, which placed three members of the varsity squad on the sidelines, the Potters simply toyed with the Redskins in handing them their worst defeat of the year.

12 Wins in a Row.

The Ceramics ran wild in the first quarter to pile up a 17 to 5 lead and from that time on the fray became a rout with the Coshocton lads bewildered by the fast-breaking offense of the locals.

The victory was the 17th for the Potters in 18 starts and gave them one of the best scholastic records in Ohio. Only Canton McKinley has downed the Ceramics and that early in the season before the Potter machine finally started clicking in the fashion that has given it 12 triumphs in succession over tough opposition.

The drawings for the Eastern district play will be made tonight at 7:30 in the office of High School Principal E. F. McCarroll at Dennison. The complete lineup of games will be announced in Tuesday's Review.

Fray Is Rough.

The big worry of Potter fans is whether or not Bill Laughlin, Dick Witherow and Ray Clouse will be in shape to play at Dennison. Witherow, out with a sprained ankle, is a very doubtful starter. Laughlin is confined to his home with tonsilitis while Clouse has not been in a uniform for more than a week.

The fracas was one of the roughest, from the point of personal fouls, played this season on the local court. Referee Leo Mackey called plenty of fouls, the two quints each taking 23 tries at the free throw line. The Potters connected for 14, while Coshocton converted 10. Three players—Laird and Captain Haxton of Coshocton and Bill Weaver of East Liverpool—left the fray via the four - foul route.

It would be impossible to pick an individual star for the Potters. Five players shared almost equally in the scoring, with Cullen and Weaver splitting top honors with eight points. Jordy Pennebaker caged one field goal, but sank five out of six fouls, to gather seven counters. Jimmy Turner accounted for six on two fielders and a pair of free throws, while Bobby Stewart looped two from action and sank one charity toss.

Turner Stars.

Turner's performance, both on defense and offense, was especially brilliant. It was probably Jimmy's best of the season and the ovation he received when taken from the game late in the fourth quarter was a fine tribute to Dixon's hard-working guard.

Dixon substituted freely throughout the tussle. He used 11 players, including a full new team in the last period.

The first quarter spurt of the Potters in which they rolled up point after point with amazing speed was one of their most sustained scoring drives of the season. The Redskins were powerless to halt the offensive at any stage of the period.

The play-by-play:

First Quarter.

Bobby Stewart caged the opening field goal on a pretty out-of-bounds play. Kempf registered on a free throw but Weaver countered with a short shot. Freeman missed a free throw. Cullen threw in a beauty from the corner and added a one-pointer when he was fouled. Freeman and Haxton scored the only Coshoction field goals of the first quarter and Pennebaker and Cullen duplicated for the Potters. Nichols missed a foul and so did Cullen but Weaver batted in the latter for a fielder. Pennebaker dropped in four consecutive fouls as the period ended with the Potters leading 17-5.

Second Quarter.

Freeman sank a one-pointer and so did Nichols. Wotring went in for Pennebaker. Kempf looped a free throw and Haxton caged a field goal before Jimmy Turner converted a charity toss. Greenspn went in for Cullen and Wotring sank a one-pointer. Kempf missed a free toss as the half ended with the score 19-10.

Third Quarter.

Nichols hit and missed on two fouls. Nichols committed his fourth foul and was replaced by Hudson. Cullen made one of the two foul shots. Weaver tossed in a long shot from the center of the floor. Turner caged one from the side. Stewart missed a free throw and Laird made one. Bobby Stewart made a foul. Kempf did the same. Weaver duplicated it. Turner sank a foul and Weaver split even on two tosses from the free throw line. Haxton left the game on fouls and Barrett went in. Pennebaker and Laird missed fouls as the quarter ended, 28-13.

Fourth Quarter.

Cullen sank a pretty two-pointer from the foul circle. Bobby Stewart came through with a bucket. Bill Weaver was forced out on fouls and Bob Weaver took his place. Kempf hit and missed on two fouls, Laird and Barrett all missed free throws before Pennebaker caged one. Kempf again split on two free tosses and Bob Weaver missed a one-pointer. Turner sank a long heave from near midcourt. Mackey replaced Pennebaker and Barrett got a field goal. Weaver caged one of two fouls. Hudson missed a foul and Laird sank one as the game ended. Final score, 36-18.

Salineville Cops Class "B" Cage Crown By Edging Columbiana in Extra Period

For the fifth time in six years, Salineville high school holds the Class B basketball championship of Columbiana county. The Dale Thompson machine captured the 1932 title at Columbiana Saturday night when it downed Mearle Atkins' highly-favored outfit, 31 to 28, in an overtime period.

The Salineville quint will thus represent Columbiana county for the second consecutive year at the district tournament to be held in the McDonald high school gym March 4-5.

The final battle Saturday night was a bitterly contested affair with Columbiana staging a desperate rally in the fourth quarter to deadlock the count, only to lose out in the three-minute extra session.

Tolson Leads Way

Tolson, Salineville's center, was the big shot in his team's victory, scoring six field goals and a foul. Gerald Johnson looped in nine points and Addison seven. Keller did his best to win for Columbiana by finding the nets for 11 counters.

Salineville hopped into a 19-10 lead at half-time, after the score was tied at the end of the first quarter, 7-7. The third period saw Salineville's lead cut to three points.

In the extra period G. Johnson collected a fielder and foul and Addison sank a bucket for the winners. Keller got a field goal for Columbiana's points.

Keller of Columbiana won the foul shooting tournament by dropping in 27 out of 35 tries. Smith of Salineville was second with 22 out of 35.

All-Tourney Team

Columbiana and Salineville placed two men each on the first all-county quint. Tolson, high scorer of the tourney with 26 points, was named captain and center. Gerald Johnson was placed at a guard with Mathers of Columbiana. Young of New Waterford and Keller of Columbiana were the forwards.

Honorable mention was given to Dowd and Kyser of Columbiana, Rupert of Fairfield and Calvin of Salineville.

In a preliminary tussle, the Fairfield and Columbiana girls' teams battled to a 21-21 tie. Fairfield outscored their foes in the last half by eight points to gain the deadlock.

Off to Lead.

Salineville opened the scoring in the titular battle with G. Johnson and Tolson looping field goals. Zeilers and Addison sank free throws and Keller got a fielder. Tolson connected again but Dowd and Kyser got two-pointers to tie the score as the first quarter ended.

In the second quarter, Salineville jumped into a big lead with Tolson sinking three buckets and Calvin, Addison and G. Johnson one each. Keller got a fielder and foul for Columbiana.

Brumgard and Dowd got two-pointers as the third period opened but Tolson connected from the floor. Mathers, Kyser, G. Johnson and Keller then looped buckets in rapid succession.

Tolson got a foul and a basket in the fourth period Keller and Kyser sank fouls and Brumgard and Dowd fielders to tie the score at 26-26. Tolson had a foul to shoot but missed it and the game went into overtime.

Keller opened the scoring with a field goal, but G. Johnson tied the count with a pretty shot 10 feet back of the center line. He followed it by sinking a free throw and Addison clinched the fray with a two-pointer.

Ohio Tank Meet On March 5

High School Swimmers to Compete At Columbus.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29—A sample of the spectacle that will be afforded swimming enthusiasts on March 11-12 when the Western Conference championships come to Columbus, will be available next Saturday when the state high school tank titles will be determined at Ohio State university. As an added attraction, the Buckeye varsity squad will meet Western Reserve in a dual meet.

Indications are that several fine performances will be turned in. In the northern sector Cleveland Heights, Lima Central and Sandusky are outstanding, while southern representatives will come from Cincinnati Hughes, Western Hills and Woodward.

Young, a Lima Central high school boy, recently swam the 100-yard back stroke in the amazing time of 1:08.7. Another performance that would indicate a new record was the 40-yard free style mark of 20.3 seconds rung up by Wolpaw of Cleveland Shaw.

Ohio State will seek to keep a clean slate against Reserve. To date the Bucks have outsplashed Michigan State, the Cincinnati Friars club, Indiana, Chicago, Indianapolis Athletic club and Cincinnati.

The program for the high school meets calls for the 100-yard breast stroks, 50 yard free style, 220 yard and 100 yard free style, 100 yard backstroke, fancy diving and medley relay.

DEMPSEY AT DAYTON TONIGHT

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 29.—Ohio admirers of Jack Dempsey are going to see a lot of the former champion during the next 10 days.

The Manassa Mauler will appear for two bouts in Dayton tonight, two in Cincinnati Thursday night, another pair at Columbus, March 7, and a fourth double-header at Akron, March 10.

Dempsey's opponents at Dayton will be Bob Phillips of Detroit and Pat Sullivan of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. At Cincinnati he will meet Jack O'Dowd of Detroit and George [illegible]inkle of Oklahoma City. His Columbus and Akron opponents will be announced later.

Delaney, Leonard In Action

Once-great Boxers to Try Comeback This Week.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Two great fighters of a few years ago, Jack Delaney and Benny Leonard, hit the comeback trail this week.

Leonard, retired undefeated lightweight champion, meets Billy McMahon, tough New York welterweight, in 10 rounds here tonight. Delaney, once light heavyweight champion, comes back to fight Phil Johnson, Jersey City heavyweight, at Bridgeport, Con., Thursday.

From a competitive standpoint, the fight centers this week will be Boston, Hollywood and San Francisco.

At Boston, Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, meets Johnny Indrisano of Boston in a non-title match Friday night. On that night at Hollywood, Stanley Poreda, Jersey City heavyweight, faces Jimmy Flinker of Fallejo, Calif., and at San Farncisco, Young Corbett, Fresno welterweight, takes on David Velasco of Mexico City.

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 29.—Pat Crawford, infield recruit for the Cardinals, is one collegian who is interested in his studies as well as baseball.

Even when offered a chance with the world champions he didn't throw his textbooks away. And when the Cardinals' training camp officially opened today, Crawford was absent. He had asked and was granted, another week to get his scholastic work in shape at Ohio State university.

SIX TEAMS IN CENTRAL LOOP

By The Associated Press.

CANTON, O., Feb. 29.—Final assurance that the revived Central baseball league will operate this year was given today by the posting of forfeit bonds for six clubs.

The names of five teams were revealed last night but the identity of the sixth was withheld. Cities assured of membership are Dayton, Canton and Akron, O., Erie, Pa., and Fort Wayne, Ind.

The season of 140 games will open May 3. Each team will be allowed 14 players exclusive of manager, with a $2,500 salary limit.

4 Named On First Quintet

Wayne Sidinger of Salem Edges Out Jimmy Turner.

With East Liverpool boasting one of its finest court machines in history, a quintet that ran roughshod over six consecutive county foes, picking the annual All-County basketball teams this season was a fairly easy task.

The five players chosen for the first team—four from East Liverpool and one from Salem—stood out head and shoulders above the remainder of the county performers. It is probably one of the strongest mythical clubs ever selected in the county and one that would give a good account of itself in any competition.

Cullen Picked

Harvey Cullen, who did not join the Potter squad until mid-season, was named first-team center, despite the fact that Coach Tom Dixon is using him at forward. Cullen is an excellent floorman and uncanny shot. His only opposition for the tipoff berth came from Big Bill Weaver, also a Potter. Weaver was given the second team position.

The Ceramic City forwards — Jordy Penebaker and Dick Witherow, found little opposition for the first quintet. Chuck Hall of Wellsville stood out like a beacon light for the weak Bengal outfit but the fact that Coach Abbey did not use him consistently kept him from a first team position. He was placed on the second quint with Dean Blackburn of Lisbon.

Bill Laughlin, probably the outstanding performer in the county, although he is only a sophomore, was placed at guard and named captain of the first quint. Wayne Sidinger, Salem's great guard, was named as Laughlin's running mate. Sidinger is a powerful offensive performer and a fine defensive aid to any quint.

Turner Almost Picked

The guards on the second team are Jimmy Turner of the Potters and "Sleepy" Fulton of Wellsville.

Only by the narrowest of margins was Turner kept off the first team. Jimmy has been playing consistent ball all season and it seems almost a shame to keep him off the first team, but Sidinger's performances have been so brilliant that it was an impossibility to relegate him to the second five.

17 Battles On College Slate

Little Interest in Cage Sport; Titles All Sewed up.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29.—After a flurry of 17 games this week, collegiate basketball in Ohio will give way to news of training camps in warmer climes.

There's no particular significance attached to any of the contests. They are just basketball games, inasmuch as the Buckeye and Northwest conference titles are settled and Mount Union has the Ohio league flag almost pinned to its mast for the second consecutive season.

DePauw has clinched the Buckeye title with 10 victories and two defeats, replacing Ohio university. Bluffton crashed through with a victory over Findlay last week to take honors in the four - team Northwest group.

Chester Quint Closes Season By Losing to Bethany, 16-to-15

Defeat is 11th in 13 Starts for Bachtel Outfit; Rodgers Stars for Winners.

Forrest Bachtel's Chester high school basketball quint ended its season Saturday night by dropping a tough 16-15 decision to the crack Bethany quint in the down-river city. The Purple and Gold machine clicked in fairly good shape but was unable to halt the scoring antics of Rodgers, the high-scoring Bethany forward.

Rogers found the nets for three field goals and a pair of free throws to lead both teams in scoring.

The defeat concluded a dismal season for the Chester club. Thirteen games were in the schedule and 11 of these went into the books as defeats. The Bachtel club failed to win a Hancock county clash, losing twice to New Cumberland and twice to Weirton.

Victories were recorded over McKinley trade school of Wheeling and Lisbon:

The lineups:

Manack, forward, starred for Chester, sinking two goals and three fouls for seven points. Chester took the lead in the first quarter, the period ending 4 to 1, but Bethany tied it up in the second and gained a one-point lead in the third, which they retained until the end of the fray. The lineups:

NEW LEADERS IN BOWLING

CINCINNATI, Feb. 29. — New leaders clung to the top post in two divisions of the Ohio State Bowling association tournament today as the competition entered the final week.

The Canfield Oils of Cleveland gathered a total of 3,125 in the five-man Class A event to outdistance the field.

The Cressler five of Cincinnati, who had held first place throughout the week, were pushed into fourth place with 2,926.

The other new leader was Tom Zavakos of Dayton, who had an all-events score of 1,882.

East Palestine, Bengals Clash

Wellsville Announces Two-year Contract With Rivals.

According to an announcement made today by Marshall Miller, faculty manager of athletics at Wellsville high school, East Palestine and the Bengals will clash in a football tilt at the Holy City on October 8. East Palestine was booked by Wellsville when Memorial failed to O. K. October 8 as a date for the approaching season.

East Palestine and Wellsville have not met on the gridiron since 1927 and the renewal of this rivalry will put an added tinge to the county race next season.

The contract called for a home-and-home arrangement. This means East Palestine will play at Wellsville in 1933.

Many Teams in Canton Tourney

Amateur Cage Play Set for March 18-19.

CANTON, O.—If inquiries can be taken as an indication, the third annual Inter-State amateur basketball tournment, to be staged here on Friday and Saturday, March 18 and 19, will be by far the largest in the history of the event.

Already communications for information have been received from three states and others are coming in daily. Many cities in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan will be strongly represented and several teams are expected from West Virginia before entries are closed and drawings made.

A list of 89 prizes, medals and trophies, representing a cost of $250, will be awarded to winning contestants and other teams and individuals showing to good advantage.

All communications for information and entry blanks should be addressed to George R. Schumacker, registrar, in care of the Central Y. M. C. A., Canton.

Bus Moore, University of Oklahoma distance runner, four times has broken existing records only to be beaten by a still faster man.

Charley Jamieson, Cleveland outfielder, needs only 11 more bingles this season to give him a total of 2,000 hits in major league baseball.

PASTOR MAKES BICYCLE RECO

By The United Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 27— Edwin M. Ellis, formerly of Hel Mont., and now visiting here, ridden a bicycle in Montana so that the distance equals a comp ride around the world, with 6 miles left over. The cycling sionary organized nearly 500 day school in Montana during years of his work.

"... our dollars are working to Turn the Tide

They're back in Circulation to help Win this FIGHT!

Yes, sir . . . this is our job . . . yours and mine! We've got to get America's idle dollars back to work.

Just imagine . . . here's the richest country in the whole wide world. We've got everything . . . resources, materials, factories, men. Nothing can stop us if we get tuned right.

But there's one problem we have to face. We've got to make our dollars work! Right now . . . today . . . there are a billion and a half American dollars that aren't working . . . every one of them are slowing up business.

This idle money withdrawn from circulation . . . doesn't help anybody. It doesn't even pay interest to the men who own it.

But put these same dollars in circulation . . . what happens then? First of all they start earning interest right away. But more important . . . every dollar you put to work . . . releases 5 to 10 more dollars in credit. That's the big point . . . CREDIT. Credit builds factories . . . runs railroads . . . buys materials . . . hires men.

Tighten this credit . . . and business suffers. It's a vicious circle. Every dollar withdrawn from circulation reacts through the retailer . . . the wholesaler . . . and the factory . . . right down to the ultimate consumer who is thrown out of a job. Release this credit . . . and the wheels start moving again.

Don't you see how important your dollars are? Don't you see how vital it is that you make your money Work?

Take a look at every dollar you own and ask yourself . . . "Is it working . . . am I doing my share to keep America's money in circulation?" Let's put our shoulder to the wheel . . . and get our dollars working and help America turn the tide.

A MESSAGE OF THANKS TO THE PUBLISHER OF THIS PAPER

The publisher of this newspaper deserves your vote of thanks. This advertisement is one of a series he has published without cost . . . in order to bring these vital facts to the citizens of this city. Regardless of political belief or editorial opinion . . . he has rendered his country a patriotic service.

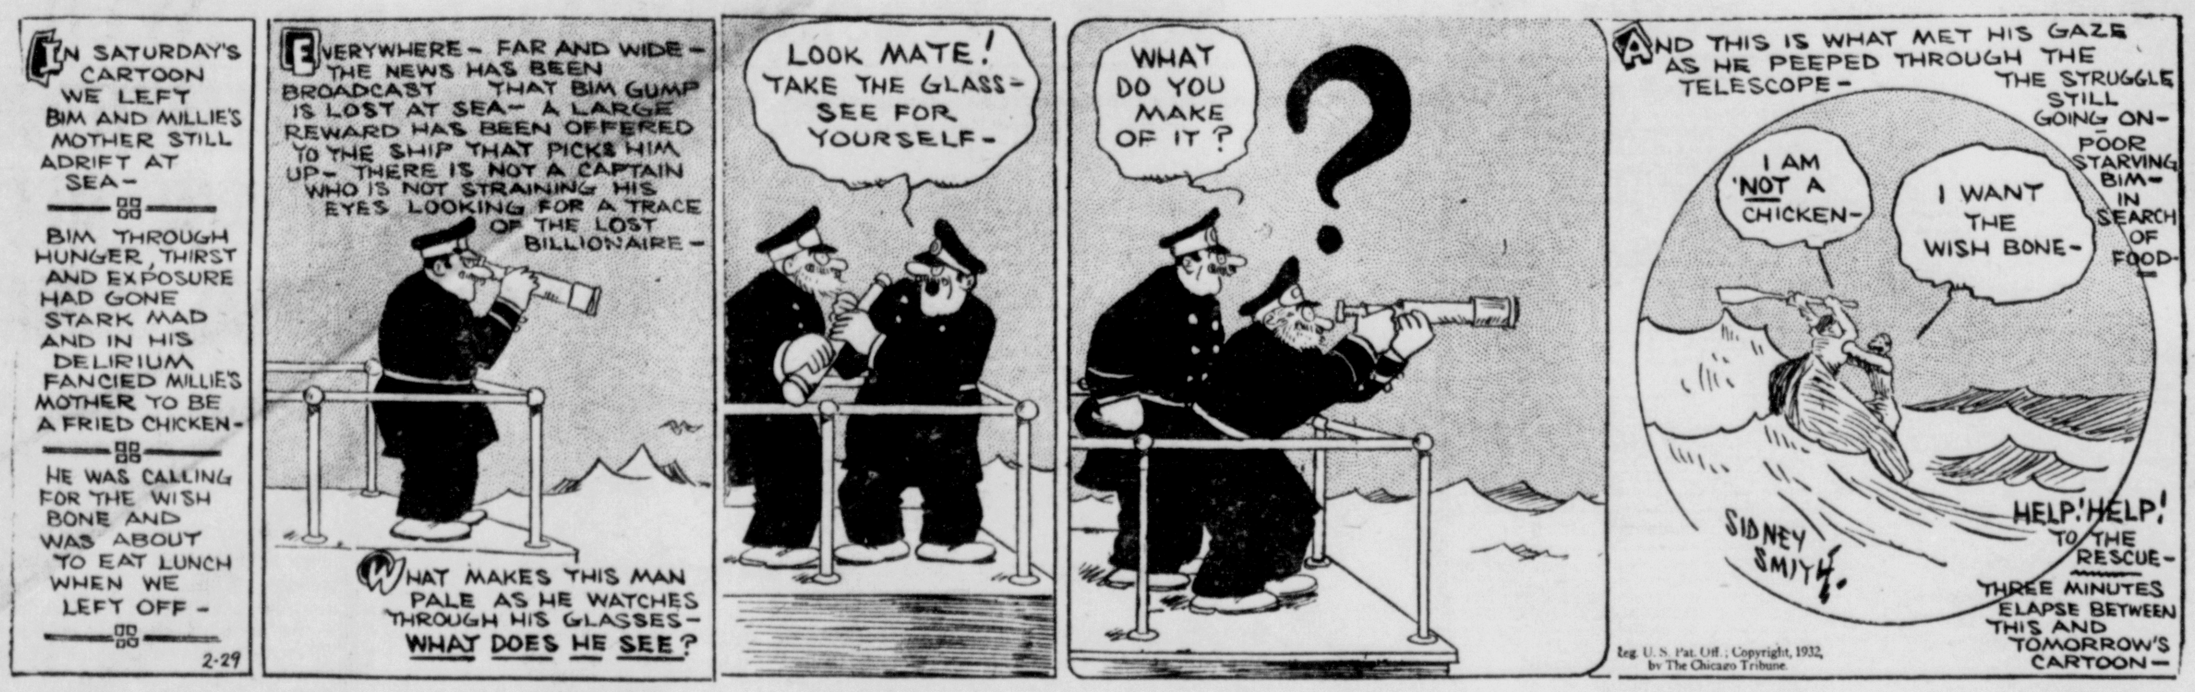
THE GUMPS—Throw Out the Life Line

By Sidney Smith



IN SATURDAY'S CARTOON WE LEFT BIM AND MILLIE'S MOTHER STILL ADRIFT AT SEA—
BIM THROUGH HUNGER, THIRST AND EXPOSURE HAD GONE STARK MAD AND IN HIS DELIRIUM FANCIED MILLIE'S MOTHER TO BE A FRIED CHICKEN—
HE WAS CALLING FOR THE WISH BONE AND WAS ABOUT TO EAT LUNCH WHEN WE LEFT OFF—
2-29
EVERYWHERE—FAR AND WIDE—THE NEWS HAS BEEN BROADCAST THAT BIM GUMP IS LOST AT SEA—A LARGE REWARD HAS BEEN OFFERED TO THE SHIP THAT PICKS HIM UP—THERE IS NOT A CAPTAIN WHO IS NOT STRAINING HIS EYES LOOKING FOR A TRACE OF THE LOST BILLIONAIRE—
WHAT MAKES THIS MAN PALE AS HE WATCHES THROUGH HIS GLASSES—WHAT DOES HE SEE?
LOOK MATE! TAKE THE GLASS—SEE FOR YOURSELF—
WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF IT?
AND THIS IS WHAT MET HIS GAZE AS HE PEEPED THROUGH THE TELESCOPE—
THE STRUGGLE STILL GOING ON—POOR STARVING BIM—IN SEARCH OF FOOD—
I AM 'NOT A CHICKEN—
I WANT THE WISH BONE—
SIDNEY SMITH.

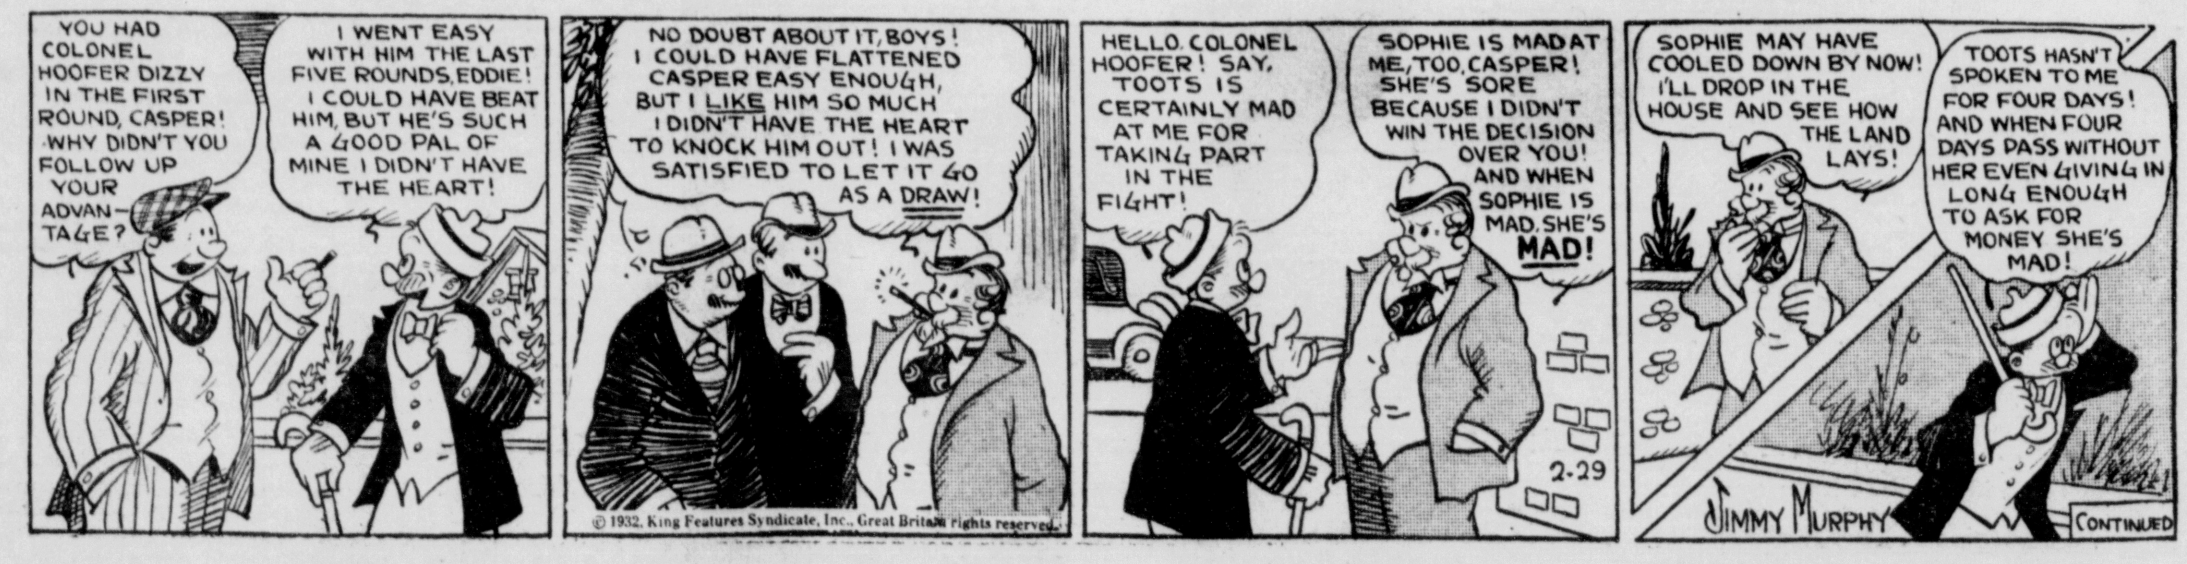
TOOTS AND CASPER—The Battle is Still On

By Jimmy Murphy



YOU HAD COLONEL HOOFER DIZZY IN THE FIRST ROUND, CASPER! WHY DIDN'T YOU FOLLOW UP YOUR ADVANTAGE?
I WENT EASY WITH HIM THE LAST FIVE ROUNDS, EDDIE! I COULD HAVE BEAT HIM, BUT HE'S SUCH A GOOD PAL OF MINE I DIDN'T HAVE THE HEART!
NO DOUBT ABOUT IT, BOYS! I COULD HAVE FLATTENED CASPER EASY ENOUGH, BUT I LIKE HIM SO MUCH I DIDN'T HAVE THE HEART TO KNOCK HIM OUT! I WAS SATISFIED TO LET IT GO AS A DRAW!
© 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.
HELLO, COLONEL HOOFER! SAY, TOOTS IS CERTAINLY MAD AT ME FOR TAKING PART IN THE FIGHT!
SOPHIE IS MAD AT ME, TOO, CASPER! SHE'S SORE BECAUSE I DIDN'T WIN THE DECISION OVER YOU! AND WHEN SOPHIE IS MAD, SHE'S MAD!
2-29
SOPHIE MAY HAVE COOLED DOWN BY NOW! I'LL DROP IN THE HOUSE AND SEE HOW THE LAND LAYS!
TOOTS HASN'T SPOKEN TO ME FOR FOUR DAYS! AND WHEN FOUR DAYS PASS WITHOUT HER EVEN GIVING IN LONG ENOUGH TO ASK FOR MONEY SHE'S MAD!

RICKEY'S AUTO IN ACCIDENT

By The Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 29. —J. Frank Deagans, of Coal Grove, O., was injured here yesterday by an automobile police said belonged to Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the St. Louis National league baseball club. Physicians said the boy suffered a slight brain concussion but would recover. Authorities were unable to say who was driving the car.

Tears have been found an exceedingly powerful destroyer of bacteria.

PRESBYTERIAN REVIVAL MEET OPENS SUNDAY

Pittsburgh Pastor Begins Services Here.

"It is difficult in these days to lead men to God, but it is not an impossible task," asserted Rev. George Lang Glunt of Pittsburgh, as he preached the first of a series of evangelistic sermons at the First Presbyterian church on East Fourth street Sunday night. His subject was "God's Call to the Church."

He was presented by Rev. J. H. Lawther, the pastor, who announced that, except Saturday, meetings will be held every night this week at 7:30. Following the service the visiting evangelist and pastor held a conference with those who will assist in the revival work.

"God has promised to hear, forgive and bless His people who come to Him in humility, pray and turn from their sins," said Rev. Glunt. "There can be no two-world success for anyone short of God though that appraised as such by this world may seem success.

"God notes the primacy of His church and its potency. The church is God's institution for the saving of mankind. In anti-diluvian days there was no church and society, save for a single family, was lost. The church accordingly is a lump of salt for the preservation of society.

"Many churches are dead, having died of complacency. It is essential that those in the church have a right relationship with God. Judgment begins in the House of God; it well may be that the church in instances needs a house cleaning.

"In view of the lack of sympathy to put courage into many needy hearts no church should be boastful. The ministry of the church should consist in dispensing sympathy where it is needed."

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST.

Texas Evangelist Continues Series of Revival Services.

To an audience that filled all sections of the edifice, many having to stand, Rev. A. B. McReynolds, Texas evangelist, spoke of "The Greatest Mystery in the World" at the First Church of Christ Sunday night.

He announced that his subject for Monday night's service will be "Hen-pecked Husbands and Foolish Wives."

He preached also to a large audience Sunday morning when he outlined prevailing industrial conditions and spoke pertinently to those who may have been affected by them.

Almost 700 persons were in attendance at the church's Sunday school Sunday morning. Marked enthusiasm prevailed during all of the services of the day at the church. The singing was directed by Kurt Bergner. With Mrs. J. P. Ebert he sang at night, accompanied by Mrs. Byron Ingersoll.

"The greatest mystery in the world is death," declared the evangelist Sunday night. "It is the one thing certain for all. And yet not even the best of scientists know anything about it.

"None can tell where heaven and hell are situated. The mystery of death deepens with the knowledge that it must be passed through by each one alone.

"There are those, however, who will not be unaccompanied as they negotiate its way and while penetrating its mysteris. For those who have accepted Him will have Christ with them as they pass through the dark valley."

ST. JOHN'S LUTHERAN

No Neutral Ground in Religion, Rev. Reinartz Asserts.

Persons indifferent, careless and wobbly and not on the Lord's side but are lined up with the forces of Beelzebub", Rev. F. Eppling Reinartz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church on West Third street said Sunday morning. His subject was "No Neutrals."

Speaking upon the Christly affirmation—"He that is not with me is against me and he that gathereth not scattereth abroad"—he maintained that Christians can not in any manner compromise with evil.

"It must be confessed that perhaps many Christians do not realize this truth," he said. "In these Lenten days it can be stressed more clearly than at any time during the church year.

"Neutrality in the face of evil is not possible for Christians because the nature of God whom Christians serve and because of the nature of the enemy against whom they fight. Since the Lord has given all to humanity He demands all in turn; sacrificing everything He has the right to expect his followers to be loyal without reservations. To compromise with evil is but to give in to the forces of sin."

ANDERSON M. E.

Rev. Stephenson Reveals Serious Decline in Mission Work.

Revealing the fact that the missionary project and undertaking of Methodists stands in the balance with cessation possible in the future unless there is a marked change from the present day attitude of the members of the denomination, Rev. John P. Stephenson, pastor of the Anderson Methodist Episcopal church, West Ninth street, spoke on the theme, "Are We Deserters," Sunday night.

"Despite the command of Jesus Christ to His followers, which means those of all time, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel,' the missionary activities of the Methodist church is at the moment in a state of retreat," he said.

"Where once there was the spirit of broad vision with growing departures that constantly made for a widening of the efforts to bring those who know not Christ into a saving knowledge of Him there is now a feeling of defeat noted.

"Every year, except two in recent years, there has been a regular decline of work and aid in all foreign fields of this church. There has been no increase in the number of missionaries since 1911. Since then there has been a steady decline."

FIRST BAPTIST.

Acceptance of Christ Will Change Man's Life, Pastor Says.

"To be in Christ makes of a man or women a new creature and the changes causes different things to be of interest in such life," declared Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church in West Fift' street, Sunday morning. His subject was "All Things New."

Illustrating his sermon with various chemicals that had coal tar for their base, he stressed the fact that Christ was basic in the lives of those who had experienced a new birth and had left their former alliance with evil tendencies.

"The evidence of the dwelling of Christ in the human soul is the fact that those who have experienced regeneration in their lives are living different lives than formerly," he said. "It may be easily discerned that the things that once attracted and intrigued them are not in their new state the absorbing interest of their existence.

"All things will become new to those who have admitted Christ into their lives. The new viewpoint will overwhelm and destroy the ideals that once obtained and made for a delight in things that are evil or that have the appearance even of evil."

CHURCH OF GOD.

Rev. Hoyt Says Wrestling With Difficulties Helps Strength.

"God wrestles with our wills, our hearts and perhaps at times gives us dislocation of thighs, which may mean physical suffering, but if we turn ourselves to Him we shall have peace," asserted Rev. Ethel Hoyt, pastor of the Church of God in West Ninth street, Sunday night. Her subject was "The Champion Wrestler."

"God is always the aggressor for He desires to conquer and subdue each one of us," she said. "Wrestling develops our strength while at the same time disclosing our weaknesses. If we only knew it, our wrestling becomes our angel.

"We wrestle with debt, doubts, desires, domestic care and the devil. All these wrestlings can be transformed into spiritual benefits for us.

"David, hiding in caves while fleeing from his enemies, would now observe, if he could, that he should not be pitied. 'My wrestling gave birth to the Psalms which have comforted people throughout the ages,' he would say. Joseph would testify that his wrestlings made him the prime minister of Egypt and Job that his had given an example of patience for the world for all time."

SHERIDAN AVENUE M. E.

Pastor Maintains Man Cannot Be Too Low for Resurrection.

"Christ is the resurrector of humanity in all of their walks of life," maintained Rev. C. H. Lucas, pastor of the Sheridan Avenue African Methodist Episcopal church in West Ninth street, Sunday morning. His subject was "Christ the Resurrector."

"A man can not stoop so low but that God can not resurrect him," he said. "He may be a murderer, a thief or have done any reprehensible act, yet he will not be in a condition beneath the reach of the arms of Jesus. Once he exhibits faith in Christ his resurrection from sin will follow.

"The raising of Lazarus from the tomb after four days represents the fact that each of these years stands for one thousand years. Thus the interim of 4,000 years would reveal the first man in the Garden of Eden where he spiritually died because of disobedience by partaking of the fruits of evil.

"As Lazarus was four days in the tomb so humanity for 4,000 years until Christ came was in the clutches of death with the grave as the prison of the human family."

INSURANCE CO. LISTS ASSETS

Increase of $9,500,000 Is Made By Western And Southern Company During Last Year.

The Western and Southern Life Insurance company reports, as of December 31, 1931, show assets of $124,861,182, an increase of $9,500,488 during the year, and insurance in force $765,540,996, an increase of $12,106,883 over 1930, it was announced today. Progress of the company is held due to the conservative investment policy, sound underwriting and service to policyholders.

The Western and Southern Indemnity company reports a growth in premium income from $992,173 in 1930 to $1,479,039 in 1931. Capital and surplus amounted to $1,425,184.

The Western and Southern Fire Insurance company, with capital and surplus of $500,000, is another member of this group. Charles F. Williams is president of all three companies.

A survey of the Missouri river from Boonville, Mo., to its mouth will be made by army engineers for flood control data.

KELLER LEADS CAPITAL CLUB

East Palestine Youth Heads Champion Singers.

EAST PALESTINE — Kenneth Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Keller of 361 East Martin street was the student leader of the Capital University state championship glee club in the district eliminations of the national intercollegiate glee club contest at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware last Friday.

The Capital club won first honors in the district contest a year ago, and this season will compete with eight other Ohio colleges in an effort to recapture the same prize. The glee club is under the direction of Prof. Wilbur E. Crist.

Young Keller is a senior in the public school music department. He recently was awarded first prize as a baritone soloist in the Eisteddfod contests held at Marion.

TODAY

he was "pottering around with a new idea," as his neighbors called it, you realize that it pays to have ideas, and stick to them.

MRS. ELEANOR PATTERSON, editor in chief of W. R. Hearst's Washington Herald, has a great of money, and a kind heart. She gets the money from the Chicago Tribune, which descended from her grandfather, Joseph Medill. The kind heart she gets from Providence, and obedient to its promptings, she had a huge oxygen chamber sent from New York, when she learned that the baby gorilla in the Washington, D. C., zoo was dying of pneumonia.

"Only oxygen can save him," said the doctor. "All right," said Mrs. Patterson, "oxygen he shall have."

The compartment, especially made for oxygen breathing, was brought from New York, at Mrs. Patterson's expense. The big gorilla, too sick to care what happened lay down in the new cage, breathed in the oxygen, which is to the blood and heart, what money is to commerce.

The moral of this story interests atheists.

Suppose you said to that gorilla:

> "A kind lady, named Eleanor Patterson, has provided an oxygen chamber for you, and if you recover you will owe it to her."

The gorilla, if he could talk, would reply:

> "I'm a sick gorilla, this is no time to talk nonsense. There is no such person as Eleanor Patterson, and how could she bring an oxygen cage from New York anyhow? Show her to me, and I'll believe you."

If you tell an atheist that a Power, unknown and invisible above his comprehension, takes care of him, provides for his needs, you will get such an answer as the gorilla would make.

Mrs. Patterson and W. R. Hearst, for whom she edits the Washington Herald, are both interested in big, ferocious animals. When Hearst was a boy editor, just out of Harvard, he captured a grizzly in the Rockies, provided for it in San Francisco's zoo the biggest cage any bear had ever had up to that time, and the bear grew so big and fat the cage became too small.

W. R. Hearst will tell you that his grizzly never had the slightest touch of pneumonia, because it lived in California.

CLEVELAND MAN IS CANDIDATE

Thomas Herbert Will Seek Republican Nomination for Congressman-at-large From Ohio.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 29.—Supporting the Hoover administration and advocating modification of the prohibition laws, Lieutenant Colonel Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland will seek the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large from Ohio.

Herbert, assistant attorney general assigned to the state utilities commission, announced his candidacy yesterday. He said he would recommend resubmission of the prohibition amendment by congress for consideration through state constitutional conventions. Adding he was convinced the people "no longer approve national prohibition as the road to temperance."

A combat aviator in the World war, Herbert holds the British Distinguished Flying cross and the United States Distinguished Service cross. He is 37, married and has three children.

GIRL WHO SHOT MOTHER FREED

California "Jazz Age" Murderess Released From Prison After Serving Six Years.

By The Associated Press.

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., Feb. 29.—Prison gates open today for Dorothy Ellington, 23, who shot her mother to death at San Francisco seven years ago, in an argument over her associations with men, and then went to a dance.

Described by attorneys as "a product of the jazz age," she has served six and a half years of a 10-year manslaughter sentence. Good conduct cut the term short.

THE THEATER

NAVAL AVIATION'S THRILLS DEPICTED IN "HELL DIVERS"

Wallace Beery And Clark Gable At Ceramic.

The thrills of naval aviation unroll themselves in a sensational panorama, as a background for poignant romance, and a drama of heroism and sacrifice that has something of an epic quality to it, in "Hell Divers," now plyaing at the Ceramic theater, with Wallace Beery and Clark Gable in the starring roles.

Thrills pile upon thrills, and all of them genuine thrills, filmed during the actual maneuvers of ships and planes at Panama. One sees the whole navy in action; firing deafening salvos at a "sham battle" enemy; sending planes aloft from a giant aircraft carrier to locate and attack a great Zeppelin.

One sees the "Hell Divers," sensational combat planes, hurl themselves downward, two miles in less than half a minute, at their targets. Filmed with the co-operation of the navy, this picture gives a new idea of the navy in the air.

Like a silver thread, through the spectacles and excitement, runs a story of love, heroism and sacrifice. There is the love of the grizzled veteran, played by Beery, and the Panama divekeeper, played by Marjorie Rambeau, that actually has something heroic in it. There is the sacrifice, and the struggle between the ideals of the old and the new navy—in itself a mighty element of drama.

Many famous navy aviators appear, in addition to a huge and powerful cast. Beery, Gable and Conrad Nagel play the principal male roles splendidly; Miss Rambeau, Dorothy Jordan and Marie Prevost score in the chief feminine parts.—H. J. K.

NEW CAGNEY COMES TO STATE THEATER IN "TAXI" ROMANCE

Loretta Young Plays In Typical American Boy Story.

A new kind of Cagney has come to town.

You will find no killer-gambler-hoodlum-crook-gangster in "Taxi," the Warner Bros. feature which opened Saturday at the State theater, starring James Cagney with lovely Loretta Young. Instead, we have a typical American boy earning a precarious living in the feverish business of taxi-cabbing. He is a moody, serious individual, with flecks of humor here and there that flash forth bits of the Cagney personality.

"Taxi" is a whizzing, rattling romance of the big cities, with a boy and a girl caught in the backfire of taxicab war. Sabotage and slugger work on the part of the trust's thugs claim the girl's father and the boy's brother, but the avenging of their deaths is left to the law—an innovation which takes "Taxi" out of the gangster class and leaves it a drama of fast action and much excitement.

There are a number of fine, hearty laugh sequences in the story, with the humor falling into place naturally and logically. Cagney, in the lighter moments, is a revelation as a comedian, and there are two big musical episodes, one in a night club and the other in a dance hall, that lift the picture into the class of special productions. Cagney, in everything that he does, justifies the stardom that Warner Bros. have placed on his strong shoulders.

FRANCE ENTERS OHIO PRIMARIES

Former Maryland Senator Will Oppose Hoover for Ohio Delegation at G. O. P. Convention.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29.—Former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, outspoken foe of President Hoover, will have his name on the Republican presidential preference ballot, in the Ohio primary next May.

France, who favors repeal of the 18th amendment, filed his formal declaration of candidacy with the secretary of state and announced he would "await with interest the next move of Mr. Hoover."

Meanwhile, the president's pre convention manager, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown continued conferences with state party chieftains with a view to lining up a complete delegation to the Chicago convention pledged to Hoover.

Apprised of France's entry, Brown said he was uncertain as to President Hoover's plans. Presidential candidates seeking delegates are not required to enter the preferential primary. Neither is the preferential vote binding on the delegates.

GAS RECEIPTS INCREASE

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29. — Although vehicle registrations in Ohio dropped from 1,833,080 in 1930 to 1,810,000 in 1931, gasoline tax receipts increased approximately $4,000,000, O. W. Merrell, highway director announced. Tax receipts in 1931 amounted to $41,638,803 as compared with $38,768,825 in 1930.

NEW PRISONERS ISOLATED

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29.—Warden P. E. Thomas of Ohio penitentiary has taken precautions to prevent spread of disease among his 4,000 charges. New prisoners are kept in an isolation ward for 10 days before they are permitted to mingle with other convicts.

MOTORISTS TO OPPOSE ADDED TAX ON AUTOS

Nation-Wide Protest On Air Wednesday.

Albert P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club announced today that Wednesday at 10:30 p. m., over a nation-wide radio hook-up, motorists at widely scattered points will address a protest to congress and the 7,500 state legislators against burdensome motor taxes.

The Columbiana County Motor club is cooperating with the American Automobile Association in sponsoring the coast-to-coast broadcast. Morris urged motorists to listen in on station WTAM.

"Members of congress, the President's cabinet, governors of the various states and other representative officials, have been asked to listen to the plea of the voters, Morris said.

"It will call the attention of congress to the exclusive character of motor taxation today as a compelling reason why the federal government should not select the motorists as a class for undue share of the new taxes that must be levied to balance the budget.

"Equally important, it is designed to awaken the lawmakers of the states to the restiveness of the car owners under the constant pyramiding of taxes on the motor vehicle, the increasing diversion of motor revenues from road use to purposes of general state administration, and the influence of high motor levies on tax evasion.

"Specifically, the radio program will be in the form of a national protest against the singling out of motorists for unjust taxation. The speakers will particularly urge congress not to enact a selective sales tax which, under the treasury recommendations, would amount to nearly twenty per cent of the $1,241,000,000 in additional taxes necessary to balance the federal budget.

"There has been considerable discussion of a federal gasoline tax. Such a levy would be particularly objectionable since it would encroach on a source of revenue now highly exploited by the states and on which state road building programs hinge. It would also jeopardize hundreds of millions of dollars in road bond issues floated by the states and which are contingent on future gasoline tax collections by the states."

DAMAGE SUIT FILED

BEAVER—H. A. Ortinberg of New Brighton has filed a suit in court here against Dr. A. E. Chadwick of New Brighton to recover $163.57 damages to his automobile as the result of an alleged collision in Allegheny street, New Brighton on October 17, 1930.

Miss Mae McCracken, teacher at the Lincoln high school, will be the captain of Troop No. 3 and Mrs. Alex Della Valle will be captain of Troop No. 4.

$5,000 ASKED IN HANCOCK AUTO CRASH

Morgantown Doctor Is Second To Sue County.

A second damage suit resulting from the automobile accident at Morgantown last fall, in which a Hancock county car and Deputy Sheriff O. B. Hall of New Cumberland were involved, has been filed against Hancock county by Dr. E. L. Edmundson of Morgantown, who asks $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained in the accident.

The first suit against the county was filed by State Senator Charles Hodges of Morgantown for $10,000 for injuries to himself and his wife, which he claimed they received in the collision between his automobile and the county car driven by Hall.

Dr. Edmundson claims he was driving behind Hodges and crashed into the senator's car when the latter collided with Hall. Both Dr. Edmundson and Senator Hodges charge Hall with negligence. Dr. Edmundson's suit was filed in the Monongahela county circuit court and will appear there during the April 14 session. The suit names Hall, Sheriff J. S. D. Mercer and Hancock county as the defendants.

Senator Hodges' suit has been filed in the Hancock county court with Clerk Frank S. Bradley. The Hancock county prosecutor's office has informed Senator Hodges that Deputy Hall was not on duty or performing a duty for the county at the time of the collision and that the county could not be held liable for damages.

Senator Hodges attempted to reach a settlement with the county court, but the court also refused to acknowledge responsibility.

ACKLEY WILL IS PROBATED

Widower Files Damaged Instrument at Lisbon.

LISBON—Shredded sheets of a will, gathered together an then assembled and held fast by transparent paper tape, has been filed for probate here with Judge Lodge Riddle by James Ackley, widower of the late Martha J. Ackley who died recently at a Salem hospital.

Attached to the assembled sheets of the will is a carbon copy of the text, which was written by the later by Mrs. Ackley Aug. 25, 1923, and witnessed by Helen Livingston and Harriet D. Wilson.

A few days before the author of the will was removed from her home she asked for the will, which was given her. Mrs. Ackley then tore the several typewriten pages in an effort to destroy it.

By the terms of the will, the husband is to receive the income from real estate, stocks and bonds, during his lifetime, or so long as he remains a widower.

Bequests of some personal effects have been made to four sisters of the decendant, who are Mrs. Ellen M. Hickling of Lisbon, Eliza B. Shafer, Anna B. Springer and Frances B. Smith, all of Youngstown.

REVIVAL OPENS HERE MAR. 13

Boyce Church League Sponsors Klondyke Meeting.

The date for the opening of the initial 1932 revival in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church in Klondyke has been set for Sunday, March 13, Rev. E. C. Brooks, the pastor, announced today.

Miss Laura Belle Stephens of Ashley has been engaged as the evangelist for the services, which will be in charge of the Epworth League. The revival was originally planned for Feb. 21, but was postponed owing to Miss Stephens' illness.

Entertainment, finance and music committees have been appointed in connection with the meeting, by Claude Daily, president of the league. The last revival held in the church was in October, 1931.

Approximately 100 members of five Epworth leagues composing the sub-district were entertained at the February rally in the Boyce church Friday night. Columbiana and East Palestine units were also represented.

Features of the program included: readings, Miss Lois Blair of East Palestine; piano solos, Miss Dorothy Stilgenbauer; vocal solos, Miss Jessie Cunningham; vocal solo, Carl Faulk; and talks from league members.

The next meeting will be in March, the place to be selected.

TWO PLAYS TO BE STAGED HERE

Second Christian Sunday School In Pennsylvania Avenue Plans Benefit Performance.

BOOST FOR TROLLEY CARS

East Liverpool, O.,
Feb. 29, 1932
Editor, The Review,
East Liverpool, O.
Dear Sir:

Maintanence of the trolley cars in East Liverpool is an industry that needs your support, Mr. Citizen. Take it out of your city and it would be a disastrous, backward step. The trolley provides safe travel to and from your work, dependable service in all kinds of weather and at all hours, with a saving in your pocketbook.

This warning should be heeded before it is too late—many cities are now mourning the loss of their trolley cars and are going backward instead of forward. In order to save our trolley cars here, you and I and every one should ride them and encourage their use.

There is grave danger, Mr. Motorist—you who depend on the trolley when your automobile is out of commission—in "picking up" passengers waiting for street cars. These very persons depend on the street cars to take them to their regular places of employment every other day in the week, and in case of an automobile accident you are subject to many risks.

The trolley car industry supports your city in many ways, helps pave and keep the streets in repair, pays large taxes, employes many persons who spend their money here, which helps to turn the wheel of progress.

Please give this serious consideration and bear in mind that more street car riding should be encouraged for your own good and the good of the city.

Yours truly,
A Citizen Who Wishes to See Progress in Our City.

MARY WHITE'S EYE NOT ON WHITE HOUSE

Governor's Daughter Not Seeking "First Lady" Job.

By JOHN P. BIEHN,
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29—Ohio's First Lady likes her job, but she has no ambition to be First Lady of the United States.

She is 25-year-old Mary White, daughter of Governor George White, and her lack of ambition is based mostly upon her consideration of her father's health.

"I think it would be a wonderful honor if father was nominated for the presidency but it would mean such a strain on his health. The governor's job is hard enough," she commented.

Silent On Father's Candidacy

Miss White had no comment to make upon her father's prospects in the presidential race. "We do not talk politics at home," she said. During the 1930 campaign she was active in his behalf but since the duties of First Lady have taken all her time she has not participated in political activities.

"I do all the housekeeping at the executive mansion. I always liked to keep house," she said. "Charlotte (her young sister) helps with the work. She likes to keep house also. The mansion is beautifully furnished and I love to care for it. Although it is rather large, it is not too great a burden for us."

Rules At State Mansion

During the first year of her regime, Miss White has held many teas and receptions at the mansion, but only once did she run short on supplies.

"One day when entertaining a number of ladies at tea I exhausted the cookie supply, but we made out anyway. Since then my supplies have been adequate for the occasions," she commented.

The First Lady and her sister intend this year to prepare their own flower and vegetable garden. Last year they had a small garden but Miss White's plans for 1932 call for much more work. She says she likes working in the garden and raising flowers and vegetables.

Miss White has been the homemaker for her father for several years. Her mother died about three years ago and the burden of caring for her sister and brothers fell on her shoulders. One brother is a professor in an eastern college and the other two are attending Princeton university. Charlotte, her sister, is a student at Ohio State university.
